—U. S. Missile Brought Back From Outer Space—

KILLIAN 'CZAR' OF SATELLITES

Sput-Jittery Nation Reassured By Ike

. . . AMERICA HAS GREAT STRIKING POWER

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower disclosed Thursday night that the U.S. has mastered the biggest problem in development of an intercontinental missile by bringing an experimental model back to earth intact from outer space.

Mr. Eisenhower displayed the actual missile—a nose cone—to the nation on television in his "accounting" to the American people on where we stand in the missile-rocket field.

At the same time, the President responded to the urgings of congressional and other leaders by naming a U.S. missile and satellite "czar" — Massachusetts Institute of Technology President James R. Killian. He announced that Killian will have full power to rush production of "high priority top-secret items."

Killian

Mr. Eisenhower also reassured Sputnik-jittery Americans:

U.S. Powerful

"As of now, the United States is strong. Our nation has today, and has had for some years, enough power in its strategic retaliatory force to bring near annihilation to the war-making capabilities of any other country.

Mr. Eisenhower enumerated America's outerspace achievements, including the firing of "three rockets to heights between 2,000 and 4,000 miles," He then said with dramatic emphasis:

Big Problem Solved

"One difficult obstacle on the way to producing a useful long-range weapon (the intercontinental ballistic missile) is that of bringing a missile back from outer space without its burning up like a meteor, because of friction with the earth's atmosphere.

"Our scientists and engineers have solved that problem. This object here in my office is an experimental missile—a nose cone. It has been hundreds of miles to outer space and back. Here it is, completely intact."

The chief executive paused while TV cameras focused on the hitherto top secret cone.

Deliberately Timed

Mr. Eisenhower spoke at a time deliberately chosen to coincide with Russia's observance of the 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution, which was marked in Moscow by a gigantic military display which included a great variety of weapons.

The President made no attempt to minimize Russia's strides into space, including the dog-carrying satellite Sputnik II which has been orbiting the earth since last Sunday.

But he declared: "It is my conviction, supported by trusted scientific and military advisers, that although the Soviets are quite likely ahead of us in some missile and special areas, and are obviously ahead of us in satellite development, as of today the overand military strength of the free world is distinctly greater than that of the Communist countries."

'Temporary Only'

He added: "we must see to it that whatever advantages they have, are temporary only.'

The President said U.S. scientists assure him that "we are well ahead of the Soviets in the nuclear field, both in quantity and quality." He promised grimly: "We intend to stay ahead."

Mr. Eisenhower urged Russia to join the U.S. in "a giant step toward peace," which, he said the world needs "even more than a giant leap into outer space."

He said: "As a step in this direction, I urge the Soviets now to align themselves with the practicable and workable disarmament proposal approved yesterday by a large majority in the United Nations."

Russia To Boycott Talks

Russia has served notice that it will boycott further U.N. disarmament talks.

The President, in announcing Killian's appointment, said the M.I.T. scientist will be a "special assistant to the President for science and technology."

He made it plain that Killian will have full authority to quash inter-service missile rivalry and to call the nation's top scientists and engineers into the U.S. space-age program.

He described the Soviet feat in launching its Sputniks into space as "an achievement of the first importance." But he made it clear that there is no reason for pessimism about U.S. progress in the satellite and missile fields.

Mr. Eisenhower declared: "Certainly, we need to feel a high sense of urgency. But this does not mean that we should mount our charger and try to ride off in all directions at once."

The United States, he said, must select the most critical needs in the missile-age defense program and concentrate its resources on them.

The President said America can have both a sound defense and a sound economy, if the proper priorities are laid out and if every citizen carries his share of the burden.

Needling the Soviet Union over its braggadocio over its Sputnik feats, the President said:

"What the world needs today even more than a giant leap into outer space, is a giant step toward peace."

—Missile Development—

'We're Close' Behind Reds

Defense Department Specialist Says U.S. Fell 4-5 Years Back, But Gap Closing

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Defense Department scientist said Thursday the United States fell four or five years behind the Russians in missile development but "we're very close to them now."

"I think we'll be ahead of them in another year in all missile work in general," said Dr. Paul D. Foote, assistant secretary of defense in charge of research and engineering.

Foote testified before the House Post Office and Civil Service subcommittee.

Early in his testimony Foote said, "we're four or five years behind the Russians and it's going to be hard to catch up."

But, a little later, Foote referred back to this statement, and said, "that's not to say we're four or five years behind them now. We're not very far behind the Russians, we're very close to them now."

At one point, Foote said the Russians got into missile development in a major way in 1945, but that the U.S. program did not get going in earnest until 1952. This was apparently what he had in mind in speaking of being four or five years behind the Russians.

Behind

Along that line, a Pentagon spokesman quoted Foote as telling him he had said that "we started four or five years behind the Russians; we are nearly caught up now."

Foote, when asked about testmony regarding satellites, the spokesman said, replied:

"I said that if the Russians could send up a dog, they could send up a man, but we do not know that they could get him back. We could do the same on several months notice."

The House group called Foote before it in connection with a study of whether the government is wasting scientific manpower.

Foote said statements have been made that interservice rivalry slowed the United States and put it behind the Russians.

'Nonsense'

"That is absolute nonsense," Foote said. "Rivalry between the services has accelerated our missile program.

"The reason we're behind is that the Russians started earlier."

Foote said the Russians started in 1945, and that the United States didn't start in earnest until 1952. He added that public sentiment at the close of the war was against military work in general.

Firing Seen

CHICAGO (AP)—Willard M. Kiplinger, Washington business and financial analyst, said Thursday he has learned that the United States will fire a preliminary space satellite next week, possibly as early as Tuesday.

He made the statement in deviating from his prepared talk before the National Assn. of Real Estate Boards.

Kiplinger, editor of the Kiplinger Washington Letter and Changing Times magazine, said he couldn't disclose the source of his information.

He also said he was informed that the Russians have an intercontinental missile but not of the ballistics type. He said the missile is not as fast or as accurate as the ballistics missile.

Kiplinger said United States scientists have solved the problem of re-entry of a ballistics missile into the atmosphere.

Accident Kills Minatare Boy

MINATARE, Neb. (AP) — Albert James Schwartz, 13, was killed Thursday in a field on the farm of his father, Phillip, when his jacket caught in the power takeoff of a tractor and his neck was broken.

The boy was working in a field with a field chopper attached to the tractor. Surviving are the parents, two brothers and two sisters.

Ike Picks Rights Group

Ex-High Court Justice Reed Chairman

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower Thursday named the six-member bipartisan commission authorized by Congress to make a two-year study of civil rights.

He picked Stanley F. Reed of Kentucky, retired U. S. Supreme Court justice to be chairman. The others included two university presidents, a law school dean, a former governor, and a Negro federal official.

Two southerners are in the group. There are three Democrats, two Republicans and one independent.

Named vice chairman was John A. Hannah, president of Michigan State University and a former assistant secretary of defense. The other members are:

John S. Battle, former governor of Virginia.

J. Ernest Wilkins, assistant secretary of labor and a former Chicago lawyer, a Negro.

SMU

The Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, president of Notre Dame University.

Robert F. Storey, dean of the law school at Southern Methodist University.

All six recess appointments are subject to Senate confirmation when Congress convenes in January. The formal nominations will be sent to the Senate then.

Reed arrived in Washington by plane Thursday night. He said he was surprised that the appointment had been announced.

"I'm sure we'll have plenty of trouble," Reed said when asked if he foresaw difficulties ahead in the new job.

Among the first to congratulate Reed on his appointment was former Atty. Gen. Tom Clark who had accompanied Justice Reed on the plane flight from Louisville, Ky., where both men had attended an American Bar Assn. committee meeting on rules.

No Plans

Reed said he had no immediate plans in mind for getting the new commission into operation. He was not even sure who had been named by the President to serve with him on the six-member commission. When told by a reporter that the political line up would be three Democrats, two Republicans and one independent, Reed said smilingly "three Democrats is always a good division."

Under the Civil Rights Law enacted by Congress and signed by Eisenhower last August, not more than three members of the new commission may be members of the same political party.

The White House listed Reed, Battle and Storey as Democrats, Hannah and Wilkins as Republicans, and Hesburgh as an independent.

Reed was one of the nine Supreme Court justices who unanimously declared in May, 1954, that racial segregation in the public schools was unconstitutional.

The commission will have a full-time staff director to be appointed by the President subject to Senate confirmation. This appointment was not made Thursday.

Schmidt Taken To Hastings State Hospital

KEARNEY, Neb. (AP)—R. O. Schmidt, 58-year-old Brawley, Calif., man who Tuesday told a fantastic story of having visited a "space ship" manned by four "space men" and two "space women," Thursday night was taken to the Hastings, Neb., State Hospital for observation and treatment.

The order directing he be taken to the hospital was issued by the Buffalo County Mental Board of Health after two psychiatrists from the hospital examined Schmidt, a grain buyer, and reported him to be "very ill" and needing help immediately.

Schmidt had been held in the county jail since Wednesday while local officers and Defense Department investigators questioned him on his weird story.

Tax Probers Demand Notice From Carpenter

. . . Chairman Agrees To Send Letter Copies

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

The Thursday meeting of the Legislative Council's Tax Investigation Committee failed to produce any flare of tempers despite incidents that occurred last week, but three committee members made strong points about wanting the chairman to inform them of his activities.

Sens. David Tews of Norfolk, John Munnelly of Omaha, and Fay Wood of Seward, told Committee Chairman Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff they wanted to know what he was doing "before we read it in the newspapers."

The fifth committee member, Sen. August Wagner of Columbus, voiced complete agreement with Carpenter's actions and procedure in conducting the committee's investigations into tax evasions.

No Notice

Chief bone of contention appeared to be Carpenter's not informing committee members of his intention to hold hearings next week at which major oil companies, chain stores and pipeline firms have been invited to bring in verification of their tax returns.

Carpenter agreed that he would have the Legislative Council office mail copies to each member of any correspondence he writes regarding the investigations.

Committee members agreed to meet next at Grand Island when Tax Commissioner Fred Herrington has completed his written report on the investigation now underway in Hall County, scene of the second investigation.

It also was agreed that the next investigations will be held in Scotts Bluff, Box Butte, Kimball and Cheyenne counties.

It was indicated that Lancaster and Douglas counties will be investigated after the first of the year.

'Pressure' Charged

Carpenter said pressure was being brought to bear to stop the committee's work, but the Scotts-bluff senator declared, "Nothing is going to stop this investigation."

The problem of financing the committee's work was discussed, and Carpenter said, "Money itself won't stop this committee."

He said he was considering "going on TV to make a public request for donations to carry on the work."

Carpenter said he had been informed "unofficially", the committee has "about $1,500" for its work.

Assistant Attorney General Homer Hamilton told the committee that neither committee members nor the tax commissioner can be held liable for damage claims which a taxpayer might make as a result of the investigation, as long as the work is performed in good faith.

He also advised that copies of the investigative findings can be sent wherever the committee chooses.

Services Limited

Carpenter said the services of the Tax Commissioner's office will be limited after Jan. 1, because the office must perform its regular duties and can spare neither the field men nor money to continue working with the whole force as it now does.

Carpenter then suggested that Herrington hire one man, "of my choosing", to assist him (Carpenter) in continuing the investigations.

Herrington said he would ask the Attorney General for an opinion on whether he legally can hire a person when there was no specific request for this in his current appropriation.

Carpenter said he plans to devote all of his time to the committee's investigations until the report of its findings and recommendations is due next November.

(For a story on the investigation in Saunders County, see Page 32.)

Woman Clerk Badly Beaten And Robbed

OMAHA (AP)—A woman clerk was badly beaten on the head Thursday by a young bandit who robbed the Bert Saigh grocery store of $150.

The clerk, Mrs. Alice De Bruler, 45, said she was beaten with a heavy object wrapped in a cloth and warned that if she yelled she would be killed.

Mrs. Bruler said her neatly-dressed attacker first asked the price of several articles and when she went to the rear of the store to check on them she was followed and beaten.

The bandit then rifled the cash register.

L. A. Morton, Who Came West In Covered Wagon, Dies At 101

Louis Alfred Morton, 101-year-old Cheney resident, died Thursday. He had been a resident of Nebraska for 75 years.

Funeral services will be 1:30 p.m. Monday at the home in Cheney and 2 p.m. at the Cheney Church. The Rev. F. C. Weber and the Rev. Benjamin Hillier will officiate. Burial will be at Cheney.

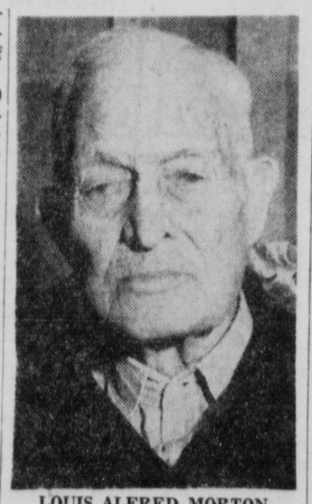

A native of Cass County, Mo., Mr. Morton came to Nebraska from Illinois by covered wagon in 1882. He farmed southeast of Bennet for two years, farmed in Otoe County in 1884 and moved to near Cheney in 1885 where he was an active farmer until 1915.

On his 101st birthday in January, Mr. Morton recalled seeing Civil War fighting from his home. He once had a shooting match with Jesse James in Illinois after Mr. Morton suggested they have a little target practice.

He was a life-long Republican, except for a vote cast for Franklin D. Roosevelt, and he voted in the last presidential election.

Mr. Morton and his wife, who died in 1952, celebrated their 75th wedding anniversary in 1951. Mr. Morton outlived four of his nine children.

Surviving are three daughters,

LOUIS ALFRED MORTON

Mrs. William Rasmussen and Mrs. George Hopp of Bennet and Mrs. Myron Boals of Tamora; a son, C. A. Morton of Cheney; granddaughters, Mrs. Clarence Lloyd of Denver and Mrs. Roy Winterfeld of Omaha; grandsons, John L. Morton of Lincoln and Dean L. Morton of Derby, Colo., and eight great-grandchildren.

Tornado Injures 100 In South

. . . 1 Dead As 4 Texas Towns Hit

ORANGE, Tex. (AP) — A tornado slashed across this gulf coast area Thursday night killing one person and injuring about 100. The twister hit four towns.

The dead man was an unidentified Negro, whose body was recovered from a wrecked home in the Riverside housing project.

Police Chief Raymond Sanders said he feared other dead would be recovered from the Riverside area.

One report, attributed to the St. Mary's Hospital in Port Arthur said 100 injured had been taken there. However, the emergency room at the hospital said that only about 35 persons had been treated, mostly for minor injuries.

Twenty injured were taken to a hospital in Orange and officials said they could not estimate how many more persons were injured.

At least 100 homes were damaged or destroyed in Groves and an undetermined number here.

The tornado struck during a heavy rain storm. Telephone and electric lines were knocked down, hampering the work of rescue crews. Four hours after the disaster only fragmentary details of the disaster were available.

The tornado swept down the western edge of Jefferson County, knocking over a home at Nome, Tex., and doing minor damage to the Sun Oil Co. plant.

It next dipped down at China, 4 miles to the east, destroying two houses.

The twister struck an hour later at Groves, Tex., 30 miles to the east and then smashed through a densely populated housing area in Orange, 12 miles to the northwest.

Truck-Auto Crash Kills 1

NEWMAN GROVE, Neb. (AP) — John Drake, 46, North Bend, Neb., was killed Thursday when his car and a truck driven by Gerald F. Michek, 24, Monroe, collided at a county road intersection three miles south and two west of Newman Grove.

The truck and the car caught fire. Michek escaped serious injury. The death was the 248th in Nebraska traffic accidents this year compared to 256 on Nov. 7 last year.

CLOUDY SKIES TO TURN CLEAR

Cloudy weather predicted for eastern Nebraska Friday was expected to turn fair by Friday night and Saturday.

High readings Friday were to be 32 to 42 compared with Thursday's highs ranging from 52 at the Lincoln airport to 43 at Imperial, Sidney and Scottsbluff.

Strong northwest winds swept over the western part of Nebraska Thursday, gusting at 46 m.p.h. at Sidney and 35 m.p.h. at North Platte and Chadron, bringing light snow to Ainsworth.

Drizzle was reported at Omaha and Kearney and fog at Omaha, Lincoln, Kearney and Beatrice.

Laika's Return Is Seen

MOSCOW (AP)—Reports circulated in Moscow Thursday night that the Russians may be trying to parachute spacedog Laika back to earth from Sputnik II.

These reports indicated an announcement might be expected by Friday.

Return of the dog to earth would complete a triumph in the saga of the canine-carrying satellite: The roundtrip to outer space. The parachute drop would be the longest ever, of course. The high point of Sputnik II's orbit is 1,056 miles and the low something over 100 miles.

Some Moscow sources speculated the second Soviet satellite was equipped with an automatic device that would eject the dog at a pre-set time. Others theorized she might be ejected when her condition showed signs of deteriorating.

Still Received

Moscow Radio reported earlier Thursday that radio signals still were being received recording the "main physiological functions of the animal."

A report by the Soviet news agency Tass late Thursday night said telemetric stations were continuing to register movements of Sputnik II but made no mention of the dog passenger. Previously nightly communiques usually had reported the condition of the dog as satisfactory.

In Bonn, Soviet Ambassador Andrei Smirnov predicted the dog would be brought back to earth within the next four days. He told reporters at a Soviet Embassy party an eight-day food supply was sent aloft with the animal last Sunday.

POLISH OFFICER ESCAPES, LANDS MIG IN SWEDEN

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — A Polish Air Force officer seeking asylum made an emergency landing in a Russian built MIG15 plane in southwest Sweden Thursday.

The defense ministry said the plane was only slightly damaged and the officer, a 24-year-old lieutenant from Lodz, escaped unhurt.

During his flight over the Baltic, he said, he was chased by other Polish jet planes which failed to catch up with him. But he ran low on fuel and had to make a belly landing on a farm.

Nebraska Dietetic Association Studies Techniques At Meeting

Forty-five state dietitians attending the fall convention of the Nebraska Dietetic Association Thursday received technical advice on how and what to serve to improve institutional cooking.

The one-day meeting featured Chicago dietitian, Miss Virginia Pinney who addressed the women's group on personnel administration and re-organization.

Miss Pinney also had some comments on the dietetic view of the present Asian flu epidemic.

"From a nutritional standpoint, the Asian flu can be prevented or rendered less acute by correct diet," she explained. After the flu strikes, she added, even the light and liquid diet recommended by doctors is not appetizing from the victim who is suffering from nausea.

She advises particular attention to the basic nutritional principles —and not skip that needed pint of milk a day—to meet the flu threat.

The Nebraska dietitians also heard advice on use of packaged food mixes by institutional kitchens. Mrs. Cecilia Bona, chief dietitian at the University of Nebraska Selleck Quadrangle, summed up her six-month experimental study by commenting that:

"Packaged mixes can be recommended for institutional use when the cost can be reduced, the quality and flavor improved and the instructions made clearer."

Miss Betty Jean Yapp of Lincoln General Hospital reported to the group on the Masters Degree study on the best methods for hospital food service, and recommended that hospitals investigate hot-and-cold food carts to meet the perennial problem of serving patients' food at the right temperature.

New officers for 1958, who took office following an evening dinner meeting Thursday, are:

Ruth Fredriksen of Fremont, president.
Ruth Frahm of Lincoln, president-elect.

Students Report No Spots On Moon

Student observers at Wesleyan University observatory reported no evidence of artificial discoloration on the moon early Friday morning.

Clear skies and full moon gave the observers a good opportunity to see whether Russia had made good its boast that it would hit the moon with a rocket as a climax to the celebration of the 40th anniversary of the October revolution.

Preliminary Plans For K, L Due Soon

. . . To Be Submitted To U.S. Bureau

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Preliminary plans for K and L as a one-way pair will be ready next week, Mayor Bennett S. Martin said Thursday.

This proposed street improvement was given the green light when State Engineer L. N. Ress said the city would not be held to its $450,000 commitment for 9th and 10th feeder connections to the new interstate highway.

Martin said the city engineering department is preparing K and L plans for submission to the Federal Bureau of Public Roads for approval of matching funds.

No final estimate is available, but an earlier figure of $900,000 for the K and L projects between 21st and 9th was cited.

Martin said City Coordinator James Mallon is preparing a "complete rundown" of available funds less commitments to northeast and southeast diagonal projects.

Widening and repaving of K and L for a one-way pair could start "within a year," Martin said. The job might be tackled as a two-part operation.

Check With Barton

Martin said K and L plans would be checked by George Barton, a Chicago traffic engineer who has been retained by the city on a consulting basis.

Manwhile, an Abel Construction Co. spokesman has informed Martin that A street between 33rd and 27th would be opened late next week.

Abel crews are scheduled to begin laying asphalt paving next Monday. The work is expected to take several days.

The street has been closed for revamping its intersection with the Southeast Diagonal and bridge work.

The widening and resurfacing of North 48th is ahead of schedule, but no definite opening date has been established except for mid-December.

Construction of Dead Man's Run bridge on No. 48th will take longer, but Martin said a by-pass would be constructed to enable traffic to move over 48th.

Mrs. Moore Dies; Former Omahan

Mrs. Ruth Moore, former resident of Omaha, died Thursday at her home in Long Beach, Calif. She was a sister of Walter W. White, publisher of The Lincoln Star.

Mrs. Moore was the widow of Charles Moore, who preceded her in death several months ago. The Moores had lived on the west coast for 20 years.

Mrs. Moore is also survived by a daughter, Mrs. Charles Culotta, of Long Beach.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

AF 'Rejected' Test Of New Missile Fuel

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of a research and development company said Thursday the Air Force three years ago refused to test a new missile fuel with promise of great thrust just short of atomic power.

H. A. Toulmin Jr., board chairman of the Commonwealth Engineering Co. of Dayton, Ohio, said he tried to get the Air Force to try out the fuel in 1954 but was turned down "because they did not want to disturb their program to look into it."

Toulmin told a newsman the new fuel is made of "materials among the cheapest known to man." But he declined to give details on it. He said the company did not have the facilities to test it.

Toulmin said patents have been applied for. But he said he did not want the development made public because it might benefit the Russians and he did not want competitors to know about it. "It seems to me a thing the government should have," he said.

Toulmin, a former Air Force colonel, lists himself as a lawyer, soldier, author and Democrat. He described Commonwealth Engineering as a firm which does research work on a contract basis with various branches of the armed forces, with commercial companies and on its own.

There was no immediate comment from the Pentagon.

Cops Spread Search For Slayer Of 2

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—The search for a killer of two North Carolina highway patrolmen followed a trail of wrecked, stolen autos across Kentucky Thursday. North Carolina police took down roadblocks, up since the Tuesday night slayings.

Kentucky police told the Charlotte News by telephone that they believed the killer is afoot and injured in the Lancaster area of central Kentucky.

Bloodstains in the wrecked cars prompted the belief that the man was injured, police explained, as they searched farms in the area.

Focus of the biggest manhunt in North Carolina in 20 years had shifted to Chattanooga, Tenn., earlier Thursday when the killer abandoned the powerful, black 1957 car the two North Carolina patrolmen stopped just before they were shot to death.

Stolen Tags

The car bore Pennsylvania license plates, reported stolen Monday night. Inside the vehicle, among luggage, weapons and ammunition, was a North Carolina license tag, also reported stolen.

Within 10 minutes after the slight, dark-complexioned killer left the car in a residential area, state, city and federal police started combing the area for him.

The trail shifted to Kentucky Thursday morning, however, when officers found a 1957 car, capable of 150 miles an hour, wrecked at Stanford, Ky. Stanford is 220 miles from Chattanooga, where the vehicle was reported stolen.

At Lancaster, Ky., officers found another wrecked car, reported stolen at Stanford, only 10 miles away. The vehicle was parked by an automobile agency from which another 1957 car was stolen.

Demo Aid Pledged To 'Effective' Speedup

. . . GOP Praises Ike Speech

WASHINGTON (AP)— Democrats Thursday night pledged support to President Eisenhower for "any real, effective" defense speedup, but some of them said they found the President's speech not too reassuring.

Republicans, on the other hand, praised the speech. One of them, Sen. Javits (R-NY), said:

"This is the Eisenhower of the crusade in Europe. The President touched all the bases. This is a crisis. Co-operation with our allies is indispensable to the success of the free world. Sacrifice will be called for from all our people. The President spoke with confidence that we will willingly make it. Our purpose is clear and our action must be decisive."

Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, Democratic leader whose Preparedness subcommittee is about to launch an investigation of the administration's satellite-missile program, said:

"I had hoped that the President would stress what we need to do as well as what we have done. But I am happy that he has noted the necessity for a 'high sense of urgency.'"

Not Convincing

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark):

"The speech was intended to be reassuring but in my view it was not altogether convincing."

McClellan said it is clear that "we are behind—we haven't done our best. The Russians are ahead in some areas and we need both bold thinking and bold action to catch up."

For this, McClellan said, the President can be assured of "bipartisan support for any real, effective program."

Rep. Hays (D-Ohio): "It's the same old story—appoint a committee to study the problem and hope the problem will go away. Comparing a B-52 or B-58 with a guided missile is like comparing a horse and buggy to a modern car. It does sound, though, like Sputnik has shocked the President awake and maybe he will stay awake."

Rep. Brown (R-Ohio): "I thought he outlined an interesting and well rounded program for consideration of Congress and the American people and was very frank about the situation."

Rep. Reed (R-NY): "It was one of the best speeches the President has ever made and should have a good effect on those who have been in doubt about our position."

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn):

"I was both pleased and disappointed by President Eisenhower's first 'chin up' speech. I was pleased with his expression of general hope for peace, and of his approval of the effort to unify NATO countries toward that end. I was disappointed in his report of achievement and plans. What we need is not a personal adviser. We need a new cabinet level office—a secretary of science with the authority and money to get the job done."

Ike Now In Mood To Take Five-Day Georgia Vacation

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower reportedly has decided to take a brief vacation in Georgia this month after all.

The chief executive, who said last week he did not think he would be able to get away because of his busy schedule, now hopes to spend five days golfing at the Augusta National Club.

Present plans call for him to fly to Augusta next Friday, Nov. 15, returning to Washington the following Tuesday.

The President has spent part of November at his favorite golfing retreat each year since he has been in the White House.

480 Orphans Returned

TOKYO (AP)—North Korea says 480 orphans sent to schools in Romania, Bulgaria and Poland during the Korean War have returned home. Pyongyang Radio said they have been "brought up into reliable workers under the warm care of fraternal countries."

Jet For A-Plane Canceled

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force canceled a contract Thursday for development of a jet engine which was to have been used along with an atomic power plant in an airplane.

Disclosure of the action came in a letter from Maj. Gen. Joseph Kelly, legislative liaison officer for the Air Force, to Sen. Purtell (R-Conn).

The contract was with the Pratt & Whitney division of United Aircraft, East Hartford, Conn., for designing a high thrust turbojet engine designated as the J-91.

The letter said that failure of a "firm weapons system operation" to materialize, coupled with current budget reviews to reduce expenditures, was responsible for the decision.

Too Far

The reference to failure of the system to materialize appeared to mean that progress on designing and building a nuclear power plant for aircraft propulsion was still too far in the future to warrant going ahead now with a specially designed conventional jet engine for use in such a plane.

The letter said the J-91 engine program originally was intended to provide a large, "high mach number power plant for future bomber and fighter type aircraft."

(The mach numbering system is used to designate the speed of a plane relative to that of sound. Thus mach 1 is about 760 miles per hour at sea level.)

Ethics On The Way

The County Board has now gone on record in favor of a proposal by Commissioner Del Lienemann to appoint a citizens committee to establish a code of ethics to govern the county's public office holders. The merits of this action are of no more importance as they can no longer affect what has taken place.

The important thing now is what comes out of this action. The County Board should not take lightly what it has done; certainly it is going to have to live with what it has created. Care should be exercised in the selection of membership to the citizens group which is to draft the code of ethical practices, and the board should impress upon this group the significance of their task.

The code will become a part of the prescribed manner in which officials in county offices must act. It is assumed the code will make certain requirements for holding office and will thus have an effect upon who seeks those offices.

If good candidates are to seek county office, it will be vital that the code of ethics contains enough flexibility to permit many people from all walks of life to be elected and serve. There is a limit to the sacrifice which can be expected from individuals for the privilege or duty of serving in public office.

If the code is so rigid and restrictive in regard to possible and indirect conflicts of interest for public officials as to prohibit a man from serving and pursuing his own business at the same time, then untold damage will have been done. And such a code would be an easy pit into which an unwary citizens group could fall.

Errors Not To Be Repeated

Overhanging the last session of Congress, awaiting debate and action in the forthcoming one, is a measure that would authorize $1.5 billion of reclamation projects.

Reclamation has not been a popular cause with the administration and President Eisenhower is on record vetoing in 1955 an earlier version of the same bill.

There is no evidence that presidential disapproval has abated and there is likelihood that congressional resistance to reclamation will be more strenuously pressed.

In the urgency that exists as the result of national defeats in the field of military science coupled with the evident need for greater military budgets, the odds are increasing against any forward looking programs outside the field of survival, especially those which deal in resource development not presently needed. Reclamation could well be one of the victims.

But if Russia's scientific successes can teach the United States anything it is that first things must come first. The Washington mentality that put satellite development behind party welfare, that put budget cutting above national security will, if not curbed, continue to weaken the position of the United States where the decision is expedience versus long range thinking.

The United States must remain in the running in military security, but it cannot survive internally on effective armament alone. Development of national as well as human resources cannot be thrown out the window. Reclamation is one of the most important of national considerations.

Benson's Scalp Meaningless

Ovid Martin, Washington commentator for the Associated Press, suggests that one of the Republican party's answers to its resounding defeat in the elections last Tuesday could be the firing of Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson.

He wrote:

"Benson was not directly involved in these elections . . . but the results, indicating a decline in the popularity of the Eisenhower administration, could well affect his future. Some political leaders said the White House might well be expected to review its position with regard to all major groups and issues with the idea of weeding out the trouble spots."

To a person schooled in the curious evolutions of political justice it is not surprising that Mr. Benson would be executed for something he didn't do. The injury he has been doing to agriculture hardly pertains to New York City or to metropolitan New Jersey, where Eisenhower Republicism received its harshest blows, but the loss received there counsels the administration to redeem itself elsewhere and the agricultural Midwest is a likely place to begin. In this instance springing the trap under Benson could be expected to act as a political stop loss.

But it would be a dull-witted Middle West that would settle for Mr. Benson's head and hide. He has been only the field commander pushing toward the objectives outlined by the Eisenhower administration. As paid help he has been an appreciated employee.

Any political bargaining with the agricultural Middle West, if there be any substance in it, must revolve around Eisenhower administration farm policies. If there is to be a program aimed at putting agriculture in the black, the place to begin is in the policy and planning department.

Hard Facts

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Elections can come out such as they did Tuesday in New Jersey, New York and elsewhere just about as they had been predicted. When such things happen, the average person might think politics is not the rough and tumble game some people would lead them to believe. But always present to dispel such thoughts are such political earthquakes as the California Republican camp set in motion the past few days.

★

The episode in that western seaboard state involving Sen. William F. Knowland and Gov. Goodwin J. Knight has had the personal attention of Vice President Richard M. Nixon. It is doubtful if anything quite like it has ever been seen in any of the other 47 states. More and more, California is growing in political stature and the Knowland-Knight-Nixon affair is proof of the high value placed on this prize state. Two things were happening in California before recent events took shape. Two strong Republicans, Knowland and Knight, were opposing each other in what promised to be a bitter battle for governor of the state. At stake, also, was a possible bid by Knowland for a shot at the presidency in 1960. Knowland's stake in that office, however, conflicted with Nixon's ambitions and the entire situation tended to weaken important California for the Republican party. Thus, with a double-barreled purpose, Nixon threw his weight into the Knowland-Knight conflict. The result clearly shows the hard facts that exist in the political world.

From Governor To White House?

By weight of party support, Knight was induced to withdraw from the governor's contest with Knowland. In return, Knight will be guaranteed smooth sailing, so far as the Republican party is concerned, in a bid for Knowland's abandoned Senate seat. In return for the elimination of his competition, Knowland will not seek the presidential nomination in the various state primaries in 1960. There are other lesser known California figures involved but it has been assumed by the Republican leaders that these individuals will fall in line.

★

The impressive thing about the California situation is its ruthlessness and the lack of character it shows on the part of so-called national political leaders. With the exception of Nixon, none of the parties got what he wanted out of the maneuvering. All faces were saved where it counted and the unimportant faces were merely sacrificed for the good of the cause. Other Republicans who might have wanted to run for Knowland's empty Senate seat will either throw in the towel or take a party beating. There was little consideration of the voters in all the manipulations in California. The quick switches that took place so far as Nixon was concerned were not too surprising. In both his home state and Washington, D.C., he is known as a very determined and shrewd political figure. The past few days in his home state leave little doubt of his intentions for 1960. He will make a determined effort for the Republican nomination for President and will be a formidable foe. The combination of Nixon's energy and ambition coupled with the blessing of President Eisenhower will be a hard combination to beat.

Mr. Nixon In The Spotlight

★

There is little doubt that California Democrats will attempt to make hay out of the Knowland and Knight exchanges. They will probably have some success in this regard but it is doubtful the point can swing an election. Nixon, of course, still is not a guaranteed winner. There is no reliable information on the extent to which Knowland has promised to remain out of the 1960 presidential picture. While he may not seek nomination in the various state primaries, he might still make a fight of it on the Republican convention floor. But one thing is certain—politics, particularly in California, is no game for softies.

Cause Of Wonder

The French Assembly has named Felix Gaillard premier to suceed the fallen administration of Maurice Bourges-Maunoury.

He is the twenty-fourth premier France has had since World War II and he will take office confronted by all the aggravated problems which have refused to yield to his short lived predecessors. His critics say he will not last the year out. We will say that if he still is at the head of government a year from today he will have been unusually successful. To do so he shall have to do dramatic things with the nation's finances and its Algerian crisis. This will be difficult because any French premier's field of action is sharply circumscribed by national necessity—a condition that does not permit of much maneuver especially, when so many points of remedy lie beyond the boundaries of circumscriptions.

But perhaps the phenomenon of come-and-go premiers is not the key to interest in France. There is a field for wonder in the fact that France seems to go its usual course notwithstanding the troubles of government. According to the usual rules of the game which considers stable governments as a necessity France ought not even to be in existence by now.

Classic Remark

Lewis L. Strauss, head of the Atomic Energy Commission made the country's most unmemorable remark at the height of the news about Russia's satellite launching. He predicted that in another 10 years the whole development of atomic power will be in the hands of private industry. To which we can add: At the present rate of missile advance, not by us, planning in terms of a decade hence on something that should have been completed five years ago means that by that time it won't make much difference to us who receives it because it probably won't be us.

U.S. Service Feud Outflies Sputnik

(Editor's note: While Drew Pearson is traveling in the far west, the following column is written by his assistant, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON — The Army-Air Force feud over guided missiles flared up sharply during the closed-door briefing which Pentagon officials gave Senators Russell (Ga), Johnson (Texas), Democrats; and Bridges (NH), Republican.

Richard Horner, Air Force assistant secretary in charge of research, was describing the Air Force's anti-missile missile, the Wizard. He explained that this was part of the Air Force's air defense mission. Whereupon Dr. William H. Martin, Army research director, leaped to his feet and shouted: "I would like to dispute that!"

Martin started to protest, but Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy cut him off. "This is neither the time nor the place for an inter-service wrangle," said the new secretary of Defense gruffly.

Dr. Martin meekly took his seat, and the Air Force spokesman continued briefing the senators.

Each service was allotted one hour to brief the senators. However, the Army spent two and a half hours and made powerful claims for jurisdiction over ballistic missiles.

☆ ☆ ☆

BATTLED FOR ARMY

Senator Russell sided with the Army. At one point, he bluntly asked the Air Force why it was in the ballistics business, which he considered the Army's field.

"I understand all the Jupiters have been successful and only part of the Thors have been successful," Russell declared at one point. He demanded to know why the Defense Department had been "holding back" the Jupiter.

The other two senators did not take sides in the inter-service missile feud, but asked broad questions.

The Navy, for its part, told the senators it was dissatisfied with the Vanguard program, had never liked it, and had been forced into it.

The Air Force claimed all its missile projects were on schedule. Regarding the Thor, it claimed all the failures had been purely mechanical and that nothing basically wrong had been discovered. On the other hand, some of the Jupiter's failures had been caused by basic malfunctions, the Air Force claimed. The Air Force also argued that its Thor was a production-line model, whereas the Jupiter was hand built.

☆ ☆ ☆

RUSSIA'S NEXT MOVES

You can get ready for another spectacular demonstration of Russian military and scientific power.

What the Russians have up their sleeve, according to our intelligence experts, is an advanced intercontinental ballistic missile armed with a hydrogen warhead. The most likely Russian move will be to announce in advance that they will fire this ICBM at a certain target as a proof of its accuracy.

They might, for instance, fire it at the North Pole where a hydrogen explosion could hurt no one except polar bears, but which would have a terrific psychological reaction around the world.

Such an audacious stunt, coupled with Moscow's sudden withdrawal from UN disarmament negotiations, would go a long way toward intimidating neutral neighbors and pushing the Scandinavian countries toward the Soviet bloc.

DORIS FLEESON

Meyner Emerging As Demo Hopeful

WASHINGTON — Tuesday's elections show the Democratic trend holding up well. Republicans privately admitted they lost valuable ground without compensatory gains.

The sampling of voter opinion was too limited for sweeping generalizations, but two Democrats were greatly helped.

Governor Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey moved well forward in the list of Democratic presidential hopefuls for the most practical of all reasons: He can get a lot of votes from all kinds of people and nobody is mad at him.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York made a striking comeback from his defeat for the Senate last year. He is restored to the ranks of potential candidates for governor, senator and the national ticket.

☆ ☆ ☆

Democrats also relaxed visibly when the Meyner-Wagner returns indicated that the Eisenhower-Nixon popularity was not transferable. Wagner swept Harlem. Meyner handsomely carried the two counties containing the bulk of the New Jersey Negro population.

In both instances Republicans had tried hard to capitalize on Little Rock. They flooded the New Jersey wards with literature demanding that Negroes "repay Ike" by voting for Meyner's opponent, Malcolm S. Forbes.

Undoubtedly one reason the appeal failed is that Meyner has appointed qualified Negroes to jobs such as their race had not before held in the state. Still, the evidence is that Negroes outside the South are not being swept by any anti-Democratic emotions.

Non-Southern Democrats now can feel they will not automatically be penalized by the Faubuses of the party. This means that their present edge in the congressional elections next year will not be blunted by events outside of their control. It is good news also for their candidates for governor.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Eisenhower administration gambled its prestige Tuesday and lost. Yet for reasons of party morale, it could not have stood aloof; had the President refused to speak up he would be assailed for running out on his party.

As for Vice-President Richard M. Nixon, who stumped New Jersey vigorously, he is now running for the nomination, not for election. He can be expected to help all receptive Republican candidates, no matter how forlorn their cause, in the pretty sure and certain hope that they will reciprocate in the national convention. Anyway, the lost elections up to 1960 are tied generally to the administration, not to him personally.

Red Air Travel Is Puzzle Page Affair

EN ROUTE TO MOSCOW (INS)—The air traveller behind the Iron Curtain leads a life only vaguely similar to, let us say, the man trying to fly from New York to Chicago or Los Angeles to San Francisco. About the only thing they have in common is that both use the flying machine.

The poor, frightened Czechs have compounded the confusion which flourishes in the realm of the "people's democracies." They seem to be afraid to report that Russia's handsome TU-104 jet will depart for Moscow and too timid to offer the opinion that it will not. The truth of the matter is that the Russians just don't bother telling the Czech airline and travel people.

"Is the four o'clock jet to Moscow running on time?" we asked the travel man at Prague's seedy Alcron hotel the other day.

"Certainly!" he replied with dogged loyalty or stout subservience.

☆ ☆ ☆

So off we raced to the big distant airdrome. There sat the glittering jet with its great swept wing, big-mouthed engine air intakes and guillotine blade of a tail. It made an impressive picture in the bright sunlight.

We weighed in and surrendered our passport and ticket to a pretty young girl in a blue uniform behind the counter. Her brow furrowed unhappily.

"No to Moscow," she said, shaking her head. She added painfully that the plane would be late. How late, we asked, in an hour, two hours or what? She cleared her throat sadly. "Tomorrow," she said. But what about other planes? She kept saying "tomorrow." But why would the man downtown say it was going and now it wasn't? The girl shrugged helplessly.

☆ ☆ ☆

The airlines waiting room was like something out of fiction. Bad fiction. People just sat there, most of them staring vacantly, for hours and hours, with no announcement about their plane because, just like Macy's not telling Gimbel's, the Russians would not tell the Czechs.

Here was a bleary cross-section of the Soviet world: little-known Sudanese Communists, Red Chinese, North Koreans, Bulgarians, Hungarians, Germans, Italians, Russians and a Czech general named Chyle who represented his government for ten years in Cleveland and six years in Washington, speaks excellent English and was headed for Panmunjom. He made jokes and smiled with tiny brown teeth. A playboy of the eastern world.

After four hours we were told we were on the plane. At two o'clock it was not sure. At four, we were sure. At six, the girl said: "Sorry—tomorrow."

MARQUIS CHILDS

Ike Must Explain To Aroused Nation

WASHINGTON — The preparations for President Eisenhower's speech on science and security can be described as frantic, reflecting the widespread concern in the country over the Soviet Sputniks and the gradual realization within the administration that a "trust me" stand is no longer sufficient.

Arthur Larson

Couriers have been going back and forth between the White House and the Pentagon. In interminable briefing sessions, the country's military posture has been threshed out, with impressive arguments on the side of pointing out the progress to date in providing the nation with modern weapons and equally impressive arguments in favor of a frank confession of inadequacy and the need to face up to a long pull to catch up with the Russians.

In general charge of co-ordinating ideas and speech drafts has been Arthur Larson, who first expounded the philosophy of "Modern Republicanism" and thereby endeared himself to the President. Recently Larson stepped out as head of the United States Information Agency and was reassigned as a special presidential assistant to combat Soviet propaganda.

He wasted no time, moving into the White House even before his replacement at USIA, Ambassador George V. Allen, returns from his present post in Greece. Seldom has a new hand confronted in his first day on the job such a formidable challenge.

On perhaps no other issue in the past five years has the Eisenhower administration come up with so many conflicting views.

Important elements within the military, notably in the Army, favored putting the blunt truth before the public. Other military men of equal rank and background urged a more cautious approach, arguing the danger of panic which could result in overemphasis on missile-rocket development at the expense of other components in a balanced military program. It was pointed out that the fluctuations of the stop-and-start, start-and-stop mistakes of the past decade had been costly both in money and military preparedness.

In his 10 months as head of USIA Larson was hardly a brilliant success. His speechmaking around the country with strong political overtones angered Democratic senators. When the administration came up with a request for a greatly increased appropriation for USIA, Larson got the works.

Seldom has a witness been so neatly fried on both sides as was the hapless Larson when he was interrogated by Senator Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the majority leader. The amount asked by USIA was cut by one-third, below the present rate, thereby greatly handicapping the agency.

☆ ☆ ☆

In view of this senatorial animosity — Republicans hardly lifted a finger to defend either the man or the agency — Larson's present role is significant. The investigation into the lag of the defense program, with all its overtones in security and in politics, will be guided by two or three men.

One is Senator Johnson, who has announced at the outset that he intends to conduct a statesmanlike and constructive inquiry ino every aspect of the defense program. It is evident that he will lean over backward to avoid partisan politics and to try to get a unanimous report from the preparedness subcommittee of which he is chairman and from the full Armed Services Committee.

There are those who fear he will strive so hard to be fair and statesmanlike that he will not be tough enough. The senators who conferred for seven hours with top civilian and military officials in the Pentagon were appalled by what they learned. They were all shocked at how much had been held back about the lag in America's missile-rocket program, with target dates still as far away as 1965.

Lyndon Johnson

Their cautious public words contrast sharply with what they say privately about America's danger. From the viewpoint of public confidence, this is perhaps right. And they have wanted to see how candid the President would be in his own assessment of where we stand today.

But that the public from top to bottom is deeply aroused by what Sputnik I and II seem to mean is now abundantly clear. And, consequently, it may be impossible to keep the forthcoming investigation within the cautious bounds Johnson has set for it. The conviction is taking hold that time is running out in a race for survival.

THE NEIGHBORS SAY

More Flu Germs Than Pheasants

By MONA B. PARKER

The pheasant hunters have a word to say about the hunting season, reports the Ravenna News, and most of it is bad . . . To which Kent Snover of Hooper might take exception. The 15-year-old is the envy of many of his elders there. To his credit he has three geese, brought down with as many shots from a single-barrel shotgun, and three ducks from one shot . . . Three Blair hunters got into a state of excitement over the nine geese that one had spotted in an alfalfa field. Sneaking up on them carefully under cover of a nearby cornfield, they found decoys within their sights . . .

☆ ☆ ☆

Warren Wood says one can get more ducks by hinting than hunting. To prove it, he had five big gift mallards . . . The Gering Courier editor says he has never had a yen to shoot deer, and doesn't even care for the meat. But some say he would like to pop off at one of those big Kodiak bears up in Alaska . . . "The hide would be right comforting to step out of bed on during frosty winter mornings."

☆ ☆ ☆

Hunting occupies one of the top-talk spots of the moment . . . and flu another. There was no doubt about it, H. M. Crilly must have been a victim of chills and fever when he did this poetic bit for the Superior Express:

I have the Asiatic flu.
At least I am quite sure I do.
It's not the shingles, that I know—
It is not measles or polio.
The bug that's in me leaves no pain,
It merely works upon my brain
And when I try to write or think,
All I can do is sit and blink,
Or go to sleep as like as not.
I think I'll go and get a shot.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Fillmore County News, unencumbered by any nostalgic feeling for the ways of doing of yesteryear, tells its farming folk that they can be thankful they don't have to pick this year's corn crop by hand. "Remember how corn-picking used to drag along for several weeks and a new pair of husking gloves every day?"

☆ ☆ ☆

There is such a thing as successfully playing both ends against the middle, Carl Sorensen of Gretna has proven. Especially when the two ends are those of a silo, and the "middle" the ever-empty interior of a herd of hungry cattle.

Farmer Sorensen had just finished filling the silo, and that night the family heard a big whoosh. They looked out to see the silo lying on the ground. It had rusted at the bottom and the weight had toppled it, just missing the barn. A resourceful individual, Mr. Sorensen merely boarded up the top of the fallen structure and is now feeding his livestock from the lower end.

☆ ☆ ☆

More than a little ingenuity was displayed by Elvon Stalder of Humboldt, too, in the protection of his corn silage piled out on the ground. With about 70 tons of the feed in a long rectangular stack, the spoilage from so much exposed surface would run high, so Mr. Stalder covered it with a sheet of plastic. When the width failed to cover it completely, he cut the proper sized pieces and spliced it neatly simply by borrowing his wife's electric iron and using a one-by-four covered with canvas for the ironing board. The combination created an airtight heat seal...

Education Hope

Big Springs, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The Star editorial, "We Have Learned A Lesson" (Star, Nov. 5), ably suggests that the causes of our failure to keep pace with Russia are: a state of mind grown smug in misguided self-assurance, a delusion that only we have the brain power that could catapult the world into the Sputnik Age, and indoctrination with ideas that are not so. There is no disagreement with this statement of causes, but as to the remedy it is a different story.

In the same issue you ably propose education as the hope for regaining our lost momentum. Inasmuch as shortcomings of our educational system underlie the causes of failure, naturally our hope is in education. However, disagreement arises as to the nature of education that will do the job.

Over the past half century a system of education has grown up that has for its end the monopolization of the right to gain a livelihood in all fields where knowledge and skill are required. Arbitrary requirements have been erected to shut out the ordinary person. To gain this end, little dictatorships have been set up with powers beyond the reach of constitutionally established law in nearly every field of human endeavor. These little dictatorships twist our educational system into a thing that serves the interests of the groups they represent instead of the interest and welfare of the people.

Only when our educational system returns to that which prevailed when doctors, lawyers, educators, engineers came from the fields, the shops, the woods, and the stores will the nation regain the virility to keep it from going the way of other nations which tried to live by doctrines that are not so.

Damage Done

Beatrice, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Dropping Brownell, soft-peddling Nixon, trying to ease Benson out, and calling Knight off in California will never repair the damage which the Supreme Court and the Communist-backed Little Rock deal has done. Soft words and turning the other cheek to the Russians instead of using backbone have lost the party all hope of winning anything in 1958 and 1960. Spending a lot of money and speeches around the country will never regain ground lost to the Russians. In the sciences they outrank us and have called our bluff on every count.

—7-YEAR MARRIAGE ON ROCKS—

Roberto And Ingrid Parted

. . . Sonali Das Gupta In Background

By FRANK BRUTTO

ROME (AP) — Ingrid Bergman and Roberto Rossellini called it quits Thursday, getting a legal separation to end a 7-year marriage touched by the breath of scandal.

The Swedish actress and the Italian director—married after she bore their first child—have seen little of each other in the last year. He has been away in India, part of the time closely associated with a married script writer, Sonali Das Gupta.

Rossellini

Rossellini returned to Miss Bergman's arms, amid everything's - all - right postures, Oct. 21. Ten days later, it was disclosed Thursday, they decided upon a legal separation.

This was granted Thursday at a secret hearing lasting about an hour. Rossellini agreed to provide $1,000 a month for support of their three children.

Granted Custody

The children—Robertino, 7, and the 5-year-old twins Isabella and Isotta Ingrid—were given into Miss Bergman's custody.

"I feel fine," Miss Bergman told an interviewer in a gay-sounding voice when she was reached by telephone later at her home in Rome's Parioli district.

Asked where Rossellini was, she said, "I don't know—he's gone way."

Rossellini's lawyer, Ercole Graziadei, who announced the separation, said the director had left Rome, but declined to say where he had gone.

Neither Ingrid nor Roberto disclosed any intention of seeking divorce later. The lawyer said it was not mentioned during the court hearing and he had no instructions on the possibility of getting a divorce in some other country.

No Divorce Provision

Italian law makes no provision for divorce even through mutual consent.

Mrs. Das Gupta was believed to be in Paris. She was reported to have gone there a month ago to ask Miss Bergman to give up her director-husband.

Rossellini has been planning to return to India soon to finish 12 documentary films he has been making for the Indian government. Miss Bergman said she intends to leave for London Sunday to make a picture.

Miss Bergman, twice an Oscar winner, is 40. Rossellini is 51.

Dates Back To 1949

Their romance began in 1949 when she came to Italy to work on the Rossellini picture "Stromboli," on the volcanic island of that name. Before the picture was completed she was pregnant.

They had first met in Paris in 1948, and Rossellini also had visited her and her husband, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, in Hollywood.

Rossellini was free to marry. In 1949 he had obtained an annulment of his first marriage to Marcella De Marchias. He has a teenage son, Renzo, by that marriage.

But Miss Bergman gave birth to Rossellini's son Robertino, seven days before a Mexican court gave her a divorce from Lindstrom by proxy on Feb. 9, 1950. The actress and director were married by proxy in Mexico on May 24. Dr. Lindstrom, head of the neuro surgery department at the University of Utah, married the actress in 1937. He was given custody of their daughter, Pia, since renamed Jenny Ann.

KLANSMAN IS GIVEN 20 YEARS

. . . For Mutilation

BIRMINGHAM (AP)—A second Ku Klux Klansman Thursday was sentenced to 20 years in prison for mutilating a Negro handyman. The judge who fixed the maximum penalty said it was not enough.

A Circuit Court jury returned the verdict against Bart A. Floyd, 31, at the end of a four-day trial. An attorney for Floyd gave notice of appeal and bond was set at $20,000.

Floyd, who was named as the Klansman who actually mutilated Judge Edward Aaron, 34, at a KKK meeting place, allegedly performed the act to prove his worthiness for a Klan promotion.

"Most Cowardly"

Circuit Judge Alta L. King, in passing sentence, said the deed was the "most cowardly, atrocious and diabolical crime ever to come to my attention."

"You have disrupted to a big extent the friendly relations here between the races and with our Northern neighbors," he declared. "You have drawn the attention of the entire world."

Four other white men face trial in the case.

Eisenhower Has King-Size Security Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower held his largest-ever meeting of the National Security Council Thursday, just hours before the first of his series of chins-up speeches to the American people.

He called in a total of 45 advisers from the military, diplomatic, scientific and mobilization fields.

The Security Council gathering was so large it wouldn't fit in the cabinet room at the White House and was transferred to the broadcasting room in the basement.

One addition to the meeting which was especially noticed, in view of great Russian advances in science and space travel, was that of the science advisory committee of the Office of Defense Mobilization.

The White House would shed little light on the Security Council meeting.

Sputnik Dog Is As Well Off As People In Satellites—Attlee

LONDON (AP)—Earl Attlee said Thursday night the dog whirling around the earth in Sputnik II is having as good a time as millions of people in the other kind of Soviet satellite.

"It is fed and kept alive and even has some possibility of escape," the former socialist premier told the House of Lords. "It must be some encouragement to members of other Russian satellites."

ALCORN SEES NO DECLINE IN 'I LIKE IKE'

CHICAGO (AP)—Republican National Chairman Meade Alcorn said Thursday that in 42,000 miles of travel throughout the nation he has found that President Eisenhower's popularity has not slipped.

Ike still is the most popular chief executive in history, Alcorn told newsmen during a stopover at Midway Airport.

He called Tuesday's election a standoff, explaining:

"The Democrats re-elected two governors and the Republicans two representatives. Nobody gained and nobody lost anything. It was a stand-off."

Various Democrats have interpreted the election results as a definite swing to the Democratic column as well as a diminishing of Eisenhower's popularity.

Seek Honduras 'Truce'

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (INS)—Honduran political leaders initiated talks for a "truce" to save the nation from political strife. Serious wrangling between the majority liberals and two minority groups has threatened to wreck the Constitutional Assembly elected to bring back the nation to constitutional government after years of dictatorship.

Board Moves Rail Rates Back 12% On Iron, Steel Shipments

The State Railway Commission Thursday authorized railroads operating in Nebraska to reduce freight charges on intrastate iron and steel shipments by 12 per cent.

The railroads earlier had been granted 17 per cent freight rate increases by the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Railway Commission.

ICC authorization is permissive, but the earlier Railway Commission order was mandatory, forcing the railroads to charge the full 17 per cent increase.

5% Difference

The new commission order allows the railroads to cut back about 12 per cent, placing the new rates some 5 per cent above where rates stood previous to the 17 per cent increase.

In other action, the Commission overruled motions filed by two Omaha firms to continue hearings of a Texas pipe line firm for authorization to construct pipe line facilities in Cheyenne, Morrill and Banner Counties.

The motions had been filed by Camerland Pipelines, Inc., and Northwest Pipe Line Co. to continue the Nov. 7 hearing of the Toronto Pipe Line Co. of Dallas.

Protested

The two Omaha firms had protested the Toronto application.

A second application by Camerland to construct a pipe line system in Morrill and Cheyenne Counties was set for hearing Dec. 11.

Heidenreich Heads RAM Council 4

Lincoln Council 4, RAM, elected Harold Heidenreich as illustrious master at the annual business meeting.

Other new officers are:

George Dvorak, deputy master.

George C. Mann, principal conductor of the work.

George Murphy, treasurer.

Calvin Hall, recorder.

Board of trustees, Russell Richmond.

Accountants' Topic To Be Law Change

More than 125 persons are expected to attend the 1957 Accounting Institute at the University of Nebraska Nov. 15 and 16, to discuss the first change in accounting laws made in the state in 50 years.

Heading the discussion of the accountancy bill passed by the last Legislature will be a panel made up of members of the State Board of Accountancy.

They include Walter Wittnroff of Fremont, board chairman; John P. Begley and Otto G. Hallgren Sr., both of Omaha, and E. Ross Martin and Raymond C. Johnson, both of Lincoln.

IT'S NOT WHETHER WE'LL REACH OTHER PLANETS—NOW IT'S JUST: WHEN

Editor's Note — Nowadays, people aren't wondering whether we'll ever reach the planets. Today's question is: When? So now is a good time to look at the solar system in which we live.)

By JOHN A. BARBOUR
Associated Press Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP) —What with Russia's Sputniks, and the gaudy possibilities of interplanetary travel to come, our solar system seems to be shrinking somewhat, as the earth did when airplanes came into use.

Fortunately, the solar system, being our celestial habitat, has been closely enough studied to provide effective bases for calculations fundamental to the space travelers of the future.

Let's look at some of these fundamentals.

Gravity is one of them. It is the sun's gravity that controls the course of the planets.

A Puny One

The earth is one of nine planets —and a puny one at that.

Jupiter, the biggest, has a diameter 10 times as large as earth's.

To get an idea of the neighborhood that these planets patrol, let's suppose that the earth and the sun were only a foot apart.

If that were so, Mercury, nearest to the sun, would be just 5 inches from its searing surface. Pluto, the farthest, would be almost 40 feet away.

Venus would be little more than 8 inches from the sun; Mars would be 1½ feet, Jupiter 5 feet, Saturn 9½ feet, Uranus more than 19 feet and Neptune about 30 feet.

In space, Pluto's most distant orbit is 3,670,000,000 miles from the sun. Strung out in an uneven and changing parade in their own orbits are the other planets.

Alike as they are in their obedience to the sun, the planets are very different in other ways.

Mercury takes just about 88 days to get around the sun. Pluto takes 248 years to do the same thing. Mercury, because it orbits so close to the sun, travels only a small fraction of the distance Pluto must travel.

Venus, like the earth, has an atmosphere. Astronomers don't know how deep it is or whether it will support life, but there has been speculation in science as well as in fiction that there is life on Venus. Nobody knows.

We know Mars' atmosphere is remarkably clear, but our own shimmers, hampering our vision. There are some slight clouds. Temperatures vary greatly on Mars, but many astronomers believe there is at least plant life on the planet.

In Contrast

In sharp contrast to Venus, earth and Mars, are those planets farther out in space and little Mercury which skitters along too near the sun for comfort.

For Mercury, a peculiar bit of mathematics makes for an unpleasant climate. While it takes Mercury 88 days to go around the sun, it takes about the same amount of time for the planet to rotate once on its axis.

This leaves Mercury with the same side of its face turned to the sun almost all the time.

At the opposite end of the planetary ladder are the big planets—Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus and Neptune. They are expecially inhospitable and cold. In fact, temperatures might range to 300 degrees below zero on Neptune, for example.

If this won't dissuade visitors, the planets are also blanketed with poisonous gases — mostly a fog of ammonia crystals and methane gas. This lies across huge ice caps on the planetary surfaces. Saturn carries a whole barrage of small satellites in the form of rings around her.

The last planet discovered, and the farthest away, is Pluto. Little is known of it yet—but its size contrasts sharply with its larger neighbors. It is perhaps ¾ the size of the earth.

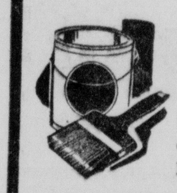

Through them all wander the thousands of tiny planets, called asteroids.

A ROAD MAP FOR THE FUTURE

This illustration may look like a drawing out of your old geography book, but now it may be something of a road map for the future. It's a three-way look at the solar system: at the top, relative sizes of the panets; center, a general picture of the planets' rotation around the sun; at bottom, comparative distances from the sun. Asteroids or tiny planets are located arbitrarily in the center part of the drawing; individually they wander in endless eccentric orbits. The most recently discovered planet, Pluto, is omitted from the drawing for practical reasons of space — it is more than three and one-half billion miles from the sun. (AP Wirephoto.)

Stan Delaplane's POSTCARD

How is it that a child can go 13 years with the most casual attitude toward school. And at 14 blossom into a golden scholar?

"I got an A minus," she said.

"I beg your pardon? Repeat."

"I got an A minus. I would have got A, but I missed one."

"How did you get an A You are not by any chance turning to blackmail?"

"I study," she said. Calmly, like that. Just as though it had been going on for years.

☆ ☆ ☆

Well, these things surprise you. I had resigned myself to a child who would slog through school doggedly and, if the teachers were kindly, might graduate with no flurry but sufficiently.

This year with no apparent reason, my daughter is roaring through her school books. As avidly as she goes after the movie magazines. I can't make heads or tails out of it.

"Why?"

"I just like to study."

There's an unreasonable female answer for you.

"What questions did you miss?"

"I only missed one. It's using words. Like, you know, you make a sentence using the word 'adroit'."

"Like your father is a very adroit person? I recall something of the sort when my own noggin was being stuffed with knowledge. What did you miss?"

"On the word 'burgeon.' I put down: 'Let us not be burgeons'."

"It sounds all right to me. Let us not be burgeons? It sounds OK. In fact a noble thought. Do not be a burgeon to me and I will not be a burgeon to you."

"It is wrong," she said. "I think it's a verb."

☆ ☆ ☆

I find this quiz kid is also a shark at Latin. A subject I entered and was informed it was a dead language. As far as I was concerned, I thought we should bury it and forget it.

My scholar, however, is getting A's and B's all over the place. She "amos" and amasses this stuff like a sponge.

☆ ☆ ☆

When the board of education was sawing off such matters on me, we learned a good deal about "A" and "B" and "C."

"A" and "B" were always rowing upstream at three miles per hour. "C" used to hop in the rowboat and go downstream about three times as fast. The trick, as I remember, was to pinpoint the spot where they passed each other.

I used to struggle with this problem. To this day I cannot do it. Nor do I see any reason to.

Ike Reveals New Missiles Details

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower told the nation Thursday night there were some top secret facts about weapons he couldn't discuss, but he did disclose some new details about missiles and their record.

In his television-radio talk to the country on the state of new weapons and defenses, Eisenhower said:

1—"Four battalions of corporal missiles alone are equivalent in fire power to all the artillery used in World War II." Eisenhower obviously was talking about the 70-mile range Corporal ballistic missile fitted with an atomic warhead. The Army uses four launchers in a battalion of these weapons. The power of warheads presumably could range upward from five or ten kilotons (a kiloton is the equivalent of 1,000 tons of TNT) to 30 or more kilotons.

2—"Our ballistic test missiles have had successful flights to as much as 3,500 miles." This appeared to refer to one of the earliest tests in the Army's intermediate range ballistic missile (IRBM) program. More than a year ago the Army fired a so-called Jupiter-C test device which reached a distance of about 3,500 statute miles.

Solved

3. The problem of re-entry of a missile into the atmosphere, after following a trajectory into virtually airless space, has been solved. The problem was to prevent the warhead of a missile burning up from aerodynamic friction, as a meteor does when it reaches the atmosphere. Said the President: "This object here in my office is an experimental missile—a nose cone. It has been hundreds of miles to outer space and back. Here it is, completely intact." He appeared to be talking of the nose cone of an Army Jupiter IRBM fired last August to an altitude above 500 miles and over a distance of about 1,200 miles. The cone of the missile, which hit the target, was recovered. In it was a letter from technicians at the Army's Redstone, Ala., arsenal, to Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, chief of the Army ballistic missile project.

4. We have fired three rockets to heights between 2,000 and 4,000 miles, and have receivd back much valuable information about outer space." Here the President was discussing the Air Force's "Project Far Side." That experiment, conducted from Eniwetok atoll in the central Pacific, called for launching of research rockets from six balloons floating at altitudes of about 100,000 feet. Of the six tests, three produced success or at least partial success. Study of automatic radio reports from the rockets so far has disclosed information up to altitudes of about 2,700 miles. Some Air Force scientists have expressed belief that at least one of the three good shoots took a rocket up to an altiude perhaps exceeding 4,000 miles. But so far the electronic recordings studied have not produced definite information on possible flight above the approximate 2,700 mile level. Even a 2,000-mile altitude is far beyond the highest point reached by Russia's Sputniks or American ballistic missiles.

On Target

5. "The air-breathing Snark recently traveled over a guided course for 5,000 miles and was accurately placed on target." This is an Air Force guided missile, actually a form of pilotless bomber, officially described as having "intercontinental" range. The test of this missile, like ballistic weapons and other big guided missiles, was made from the Missile Center at Cape Canaveral, Fla. That test, made in recent days, is understood to have been over a closed course, which took the Snark out over the Atlantic, turned it by means of its guidance system, then brought it back to the area of Cape Canaveral—an over-all distance of about 5,000 miles.

5. "The Navy has in both oceans submarines which can rise to the surface and launch, in a matter of minutes, a missile carrying a nuclear warhead." This is the Regulus, another form of pilotless bomber, of subsonic speed, with a range up to about 700 miles.

Head On

7. Some missiles have their own built-in mechanism for seeking out and destroying a target many miles away. "Thus, the other day, a Bomarc missile, by itself, sought out a fast-moving, unmanned airplane 45 miles at sea and actually met it head on." The mileage mentioned by the President was somewhat less than the previously unofficial report that the target was more than 100 miles away. The Bomarc missile has a range up to about 300 miles. In the test, the Bomarc arrived above the target plane while at an altitude of more than 60,000 feet, then plunged down upon it. Part of the guidance system is an infrared device—which is attracted toward a source of heat, such as the exhaust of an aircraft engine.

In his address, Eisenhower spoke of "certain high-priority top-secret items that, for security reasons, I know you will not expect me to enumerate."

His reference may have been essentially to actual performance of known missiles and other weapons in development, although he could have been alluding to weapons not yet known to the public.

Man Quizzed In Slaying Of 2 Dixie Cops

GEORGETOWN, Ky. (AP)—Georgetown police Thursday picked up a man who "fits the description" of a gunman who killed two North Carolina policemen, Chief Donald Van Arsdall reported.

He added there was "nothing definite yet" on whether the man was the killer who reportedly wrecked a stolen car near Lancaster earlier Thursday.

Van Arsdall said no charges were filed immediately against the man, who identified himself as Kenneth Combs, 24. The chief said Combs' mother lives in Lexington.

Meantime, state police said they were continuing a manhunt started after the wrecked-car report. State police said they had a man going to question Combs.

Van Arsdall said Combs reportedly hitchhiked into Georgetown Thursday and was picked up in a hotel lobby where he "appeared to be waiting for someone." He said a shirt in one of Combs' two suitcases appeared to be bloodstained.

No Charges

"We haven't placed any charges as yet, but Combs knows why he is being held," the chief said. He said Combs denied being the killer and was unarmed.

Van Arsdall said Combs told a confused story of where he had been and replied "all over" when asked his home address.

The search for the killer shifted to Chattanooga, Tenn., earlier when he abandoned the powerful, black 1957 car the two North Carolina patrolmen stopped Tuesday night just before they were shot to death.

Man Accused Of Robbing Lincolnite Waits Grand Jury

IOWA CITY (AP)—Alcyone Glover, 26, of Macon, Ga., accused of holding up a State University of Iowa graduate student and robbing her of 89 cents, was still held in the county jail here Thursday awaiting action of the grand jury.

Glover was arrested on charges of robbery with aggravation Oct. 5 a few hours after Miss Lucigrace Switzer of Lincoln, Neb., was accosted by a man near the university campus and threatened with a knife if she didn't turn over her purse.

Johnson County Attorney William Tucker said the grand jury will reconvene Nov. 18 and he will seek an indictment against Glover after it meets. Glover has been held in jail since his arrest under $10,000 bond.

Laika Charged

DETROIT (AP)—Dog officer Harold F. Baker of suburban Huntington Woods obtained a warrant charging Laika, the dog passenger on Russia's Sputnik II, with being at large without a dog license.

The warrant charges Laika was within the city limits as Sputnik passed overhead. The warrant is returnable in Justice Court Nov. 26—if Baker is able to serve it.

New Missile Czar Killian Said Man With Wealth Of Experience

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Dr. James Rhyne Killian Jr., President Eisenhower's choice to direct the nation's scientific defense program, is recognized as a man who has a wealth of administrative and technological experience.

At 53 he has been president of one of the country's leading engineering schools — Massachusetts Institute of Technology—for nine years.

His associates know him as a methodical planner, but also as one who will slash through red tape to handle an emergency when the occasion demands.

A native of Blacksberg, N.C., Dr. Killian worked his way up from undergraduate to president of M. I. T. in 24 years. He was the first tech graduate to head the sprawling engineering school on the banks of the Charles River.

Joined Staff In '26

Dr. Killian joined the M. I. T. staff soon after his graudation in 1926 and has been with it ever since, rolling up administrative experience which carried him to the vice-presidency in 1945 and the presidency in 1948.

During his nine years at the helm, Dr. Killian has kept M. I. T. in pace with the rapid advances of science. He bases his administration on "teamwork bound together by common ideals of education, research and public service."

Although he earned a bachelor of science degree in business and engineering education, his first job at the institution was editorial. He served as assistant managing editor of the school's technological review and eventually became editor-in-chief.

During World War II when the scientific and engineering resources of M. I. T. were mobilized for service to the nation in research, Dr. Killian shared the administrative responsibility with then President Carl K. Compton.

Command

He frequently assumed command from the late Dr. Compton during those days when the latter was called to Washington to aid research on the atomic bomb and radar.

Now Dr. Killian is following the steps of his predecessor at M. I. T.

Dr. Compton recommended him for the presidency in 1948 when he retired to become chairman of the national military establishment's Research and Development Board

During his career Dr. Killian has been associated with scientists continually, organizing and directing technological programs.

At Duke

Dr. Killian studied at Trinity College, Durham, N.C.—now Duke University—for two years before transferring to M. I. T. in 1924

He has written many scientific articles and has had numerous honors bestowed upon him during his years as president.

His associates say his experience as an editor has taught him not to waste words.

Dr. Killian's outside activities range from hiking and mountain climbing and collecting rare books.

Dr. Killian and his wife—the former Elizabeth Parks of Ashboro, S.C.—live in Wellesley Hills, a Boston suburb. They have a son and daughter.

Youth, 17, Appeals Jail Term In 2nd Offense Suspended License

A 17-year-old Lincoln boy who was arrested for driving on a suspended license only 16 hours after he had been in court on the same charge was sentenced to 60 days in jail Thursday in Municipal Court on two traffic charges. He appealed the sentence.

Gerald E. Hollandsworth of 1227 So. 15th was found guilty of driving on a suspended license and of driving negligently in such a manner as to endanger life, limb and property.

Arrested Oct. 22

Hollandsworth was arrested by police about 3 a.m. Oct. 22 after a 65 mph chase. He told police he had fled when they approached his car because he had been in Municipal Court the morning of Oct. 21 on a suspended license charge. He had been found guilty after a trial and sentenced to 30 days in jail, but was free on $300 appeal bond.

Police testified Thursday they observed the car they later found Hollandsworth to be driving parked on Leighton between 27th and 28th about 2:30 a.m. Oct. 22. When the cruiser car approached the Hollandsworth car took off at a high rate of speed, police said.

Halted After Chase

The police car gave chase, and Hollandsworth finally halted at 22nd and Potter after his car had struck a parked car as he had made a turn at high speed. For the last three blocks of the chase, police said, the hood of Hollandsworth's car had been up and he had had to look out his left side window to see. Police testified they clocked him at 65 mph on 27th Street and again at 50 mph on Potter.

Judge John Jacobson found Hollandsworth guilty after a trial on both the negligent driving and suspended license charges, and sentenced him to 30 days in jail on each. The jail terms are to run consecutively, Jacobson said, and in addition Hollandsworth's driving privileges were suspended one year. He appealed, and bond was set at $750.

City Prosecutor Tom Gorham noted during the trial that Hollandsworth could have been charged with attempting to flee from a law officer while driving on a suspended license. This charge was made a felony by the last State Legislature and is punishable by a term in the State Penitentiary.

Serve Fairmont Cottage Cheese Sauce on Italian Noodles

- 1 cup chopped onions
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 pound ground beef
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1 teaspoon celery salt
- 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
- 3 cups uncooked noodles
- 3 cups tomato juice
- 1 12-oz. carton Fairmont Cottage Cheese (1½ cups)
- ½ pint dairy cultured sour cream
- Paprika

In 2-qt. saucepan, cook onions in butter till tender but not brown. Add meat; brown lightly. Stir in salt, celery salt, Worcestershire sauce, noodles, tomato juice. Bring to boil; simmer 30 min. or until noodles are tender and mixture thickens. Pour into serving dish. Stir cottage cheese and sour cream together; spoon over noodles; sprinkle with paprika. Makes 8 servings.

Scientists Believe Russ Super-Fuel Nothing New

NEW YORK (AP) — What is the new super-fuel that powered Russia's second Sputnik?

The Russians aren't telling and U.S. scientists can only guess. But whatever it is, industry experts say, it's a reasonably safe bet that we already have it.

That's the considered opinion of some scientists and research chiefs of private industrial firms working on the government's rocket propellant program.

Among the exotic new "zip" fuels now in limited production is one that can blast an object the size of a beer can 239,000 miles to the moon.

Still in the planning stage are fuels that will derive their energy from the splitting or joining of atomic particles or from the recombining of shattered molecules ("free radicals").

Kerosene

Simplest type of rocket fuel in use today is a special kind of kerosene that uses liquid oxygen as a burning or oxidizing agent. At altitudes above 20 miles there is not enough oxygen in the atmosphere to burn the fuel so the missile must carry its own supply.

Some industry scientists think kerosene and oxygen may have powered Russia's orbiting doghouse on its initial 1,000-mile flight into cosmic space.

Already nearing the mass production stage are nonpetroleum-based fuels that can give the rocket a much more powerful kick or thrust.

One type (Olin Mathieson Chemical Co.'s "Hef" and Callery Co.'s "Hical") contains boron. Boron-based fuels are rich in hydrogen, one of the hottest burning and lightest elements known to science.

Experimental work is being done on a hydrogen fuel that will use fluorine instead of oxygen as a burning agent.

Solid Fuels

Also coming into prominence is a new family of solid fuels, many of which contain chemicals which were discovered in the development of synthetic rubber.

From production all the way back to basic research, the rocket fuel program cuts a wide swath through American industry.

Olin Mathieson, one of the nation's biggest chemical producers, is but one of the many blue chip corporations active in the rocket propellant field.

Gallery Co. is owned by Gulf Oil Corp. and Mine Safety Appliances Co.

Offspring

Also engaged in development of boron fuels are Metal Hydrides Inc. of Beverly, Mass., and a corporate offspring known as AFN Inc. which is jointly owned by American Potash & Chemical Corp., Food Machinery & Chemi-Corp., and National Distillers & Chemical Corp. American Potash itself is a major supplier of boron chemicals, along with Stauffer Chemical Co. and U.S. Borax & Chemical Co.

Allied Chemical & Dye Corp. and Pennsalt Chemicals Corp. are doing intensive research on liquid rocket fuel propellants. Both are important producers of fluorine.

How much money is the government spending on rocket fuels research? Estimates run from 10 100 million dollars a year.

Integration Action Injunction Again Faubus Appealed

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A Federal District Court injunction prohibiting Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas from interfering with integration at Central High School in Little Rock was appealed Thursday to the U.S. Court of Appeals.

The case was docketed for consideration at the March term of the Appellate Court.

The petition filed here reviewed the historic case briefly and asked that the injunction granted by Federal Judge Ronald N. Davies at Little Rock Sept. 20 be dissolved.

It did not specify the grounds on which Faubus and two Arkansas National Guard officers, also named in the injunction, are seeking to have the injunction dissolved.

The appeal was filed in behalf of the Arkansas governor, Adjutant General Sherman T. Clinger of Arkansas and Lt. Col. Marion E. Johnson of the Arkansas National Guard.

Judge Davies held that Faubus, by use of the State Guard, had thwarted a plan of integration approved by the Little Rock school board in preventing nine Negro children from entering the school.

Past And Future In The News

THERE'S a blend of the past and the future in the news this morning—The past involves guests who were in town briefly, and the future has to do with some interesting party activity—

Think perhaps we'll start the day off with the future events—such as the Backstage Club's first party of the season which is to be held on Saturday evening at the Lincoln Saddle Club. We hear that it is to be a get-acquainted-and-have-fun affair.

* * *

BUT our calendar tells us that Miss Judy Hartman and her fiance, Ens. Richard Walker, are to be honored this evening when Ens. Walker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Walker of Aberdeen, S.Dak., are host and hostess at dinner at Hotel Cornhusker. The guest list will include members of the families, and the bridal attendants at the wedding of Miss Hartman and Ens. Walker which will be an event of Saturday.

UNDERSTAND that Mr. and Mrs. Guy Reed were in town last week-end to attend the Homecoming game and also for a brief visit with Mrs. Reed's brother and sister-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Everett Angle. Mr. Reed returned to Chicago on Sunday evening, but Mrs. Reed remained in Lincoln until Monday evening.

* * *

JUST had a preview into the future—at least as far as Tuesday—Understand that Dr. and Mrs. Richard Duncan (he is the conductor of the Omaha Symphony) are coming to Lincoln to be the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. Shelden Hallett on Tuesday evening, and to attend the concert by the Lincoln Symphony and its guest artist, Camilla Wicks, violinist.

* * *

MENTION of Miss Wicks reminds us that she will be honored at a reception given by the members of the Symphony board at the University Club following the concert.

FROM LaJolla, Calif., this morning comes news of the birth of a son, John Kenneth, on Tuesday, Nov. 5, to Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gartner, formerly of Lincoln. The baby's paternal grandparents are Dr. and Mrs. Herman Gartner of Lincoln, and his maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Greene of Los Angeles.

CHATTER In The CORRIDOR

BY CAROL ZAJIC

It has been said that some events make such an impression upon you that you never forget them — well, that's how the students of Pius X feel about last Friday night's Homecoming. Though the weather was boistrous and chilly our Homecoming couldn't have been more perfect.

★

As the half-time ceremonies got underway the unrevealed king and queen and their two attendants approached from the far end of the field in two convertibles while the Thunderettes formed the letter "T" in the middle of the football field. While anxiously awaiting the arrival of the royalty the Pep Club sang, "Who Will Be Our King and Queen Tonight." As the convertibles neared the T formation there were clamorous shouts from the Pep Club when the royal couples were sighted.

The starry-eyed Donna Breitfelder, looking every inch a queen, and Don Houser — the wide, padded shoulders of his football suit, and his prowess on the football field making him the ideal selection for a hero-king, emerged from one convertible, while Carol Zajic and David Higgins, the attendants, stepped out of the other car.

The royal party walked through the formation and were greeted by the 1956 queen and the attendants. Then the cloaks of gold-lined white satin, trimmed with green, were presented to Miss Breitfelder and Mr. Houser, while the attendants received cloaks of gold satin, lined with white and trimmed with green.

Then came the most awaited moment in all of the Homecoming festivities — the crowning of this year's king and queen by Mary Alice Anderson, and the 1956 attendants, Jane Mahoney and Joe Neal.

As in the tradition of Pius X the king presented the queen with a bouquet of red roses.

When the crowning ceremonies were completed the 1957 royalty walked back through the formation to the cars while the Pep Club sang, "Viva the King and Queen."

★

Of course our team, the Thunderbolts, made Homecoming even more perfect by trouncing Hebron 26-0.

Immediately after the game a dance was held in Pius X gym.

★

Again I want to congratulate Donna Breitfelder and Don Houser—Pius X's 1957 Homecoming King and Queen.

Women's Group To Hear Talk

Members of the International Association of Career Women will meet for a 6:30 o'clock dinner Friday evening at the Copper Kettle after which Alton S. Hotaling will speak to the group on the topic, "Education in TV Classes".

Mrs. Marie Hulbert is in charge of arrangements for the evening, and program chairman is Mrs. Florence Gibbons. Miss Maria Scheidt will preside at a short business meeting.

Club Hears Book Review

La Sertoma members met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Harold Evans to hear a review of the book, "The Nun's Story," by Miss Edith Hilton. A business meeting was held and hostesses for the social hour were Mrs. Art Reed, Mrs. Boyd MacDougal and Mrs. Maynard Yost.

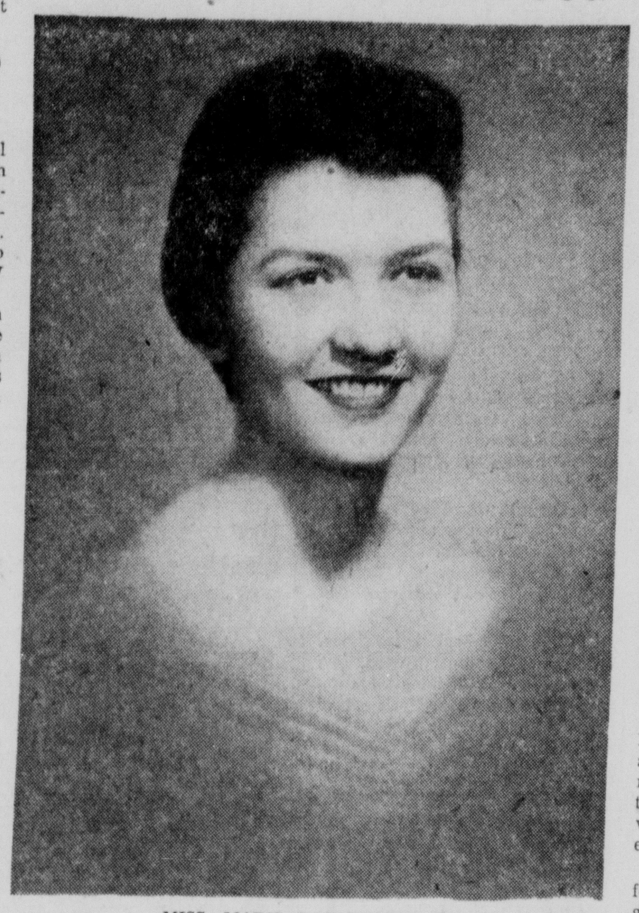

We Hear That

Capt. and Mrs. Jack Hart of Victoria, Tex., make announcement of the birth of a son, Jack Douglas, on Tuesday, Oct. 29. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Hart of Lincoln, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Illingsworth of Holdrege are the maternal grandparents.

★

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Hiskey are the parents of a son, Douglas Edward, who was born on Tuesday, Nov. 5, at St. Elizabeth Hospital. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dvorak and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hiskey are the paternal grandparents.

Betrothal Announced

MISS MARY LOUISE REESE

Announcement is being made this morning of the betrothal of Miss Mary Louise Reese of Lincoln, to Robert G. Brown, son of Mrs. Roy A. Brown of Fairbury, by the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Walter F. Reese of Columbus.

Feb. 1 has been chosen as the date for the wedding.

A graduate of the University of Nebraska, Mr. Brown is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

Club Hears Varied Talks

Mrs. Helen Calcaterra was toastmistress Monday evening at the meeting of the Lincoln Toastmistress Club. Topic mistress during the dinner, held at the Capital Hotel, was Mrs. Marjorie Bennett and speaking extemporaneously on the topic, "Children's Entertainment—Now and Thirty Years Ago", were Miss Esteline Porter, Mrs. Larry Wentz, Mrs. Margaret Foster and Mrs. Bertha Johnston.

Program speakers for the evening were Mrs. Lydia Martens, "Your Voice Is Showing"; Miss Ann Gustafson, "Gestures"; Mrs. Jean Gaylor, "Power of Negative Thinking"; and Miss Flora Henkelmann, "Fruitbasket Upset".

November Bride-Elect Honored

Complimenting Alpha Phi's Miss Donna Mertz of Grand Island, whose marriage to Terry Trueblood will be solemnized Nov. 22, Mrs. Leonard Davey entertained at a 10 o'clock coffee at her home on Thursday morning. During the morning the 15 guests, including Mrs. Don Mertz, mother of the bride-to-be; Mrs. Leo Trueblood, mother of the bridegroom-elect, and Mrs. Glen Smith, all of Grand Island, presented the honoree with a miscellaneous shower.

BSP Chapter Has Program

The regular meeting of Zeta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, was held Tuesday evening with Mrs. Jack Cederdahl presiding. Names of secret sisters were drawn, and a program, "Personality and Relationships," was given by Mrs. William Hartley.

Mrs. Harold Crawford recently has been chosen director of the chapter. Active in the sorority since its founding, Mrs. Crawford is a former chairman of the Cerebral Palsy fund drive and a member of the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division as well as other civic organizations in the city.

PTA Council Has Meeting

Mrs. Howard Deems presided at the monthly meeting of the Lincoln Council of Parents and Teachers Thursday afternoon at the Board of Education. Plans were discussed for the state PTA convention to be held in Lincoln next April, and Mrs. Eber E. Tice was named convention manager for the Lincoln Council.

The meeting was opened by Mrs. Ralph Johnson, character and spiritual education chairman, and Mrs. Howard Elm introduced Dr. Julius Humann who spoke on, "The Rapid Learner in Lincoln Schools".

Mrs. Elm also told of plans for the December council program on civil defense, to which unit presidents are asked to bring civil defense and safety chairmen.

Plans also were discussed for observing American Education Week Nov. 10 to 16. The following themes have been chosen for each day of the week: "Education for Moral Values", "Education for Responsible Citizenship", "What Our Schools Should Achieve", "Ways to Provide Better Education", "Our Community's Teachers", "Our School-Community Relationship", and "Our Own Responsibility for Better Schools".

Ice-Capades For Irving Pupils

The first PTA-sponsored class party for pupils of Irving Junior High School was held Thursday evening when the ninth grade classmates met at Pershing Municipal Auditorium for an evening of ice-skating. It wasn't all quick spills and hilarious tumbles, however, for a good supply of refreshments was provided by the group of PTA chaperones serving under the chairmanship of Dr. and Mrs. Donald Purvis.

Secretaries Dinner-Meeting

The Cornhusker Chapter of the National Secretaries Association will hold its monthly dinner-meeting on Monday evening. Following a 6 o'clock dinner at the YWCA, members of the ways and means committee will be in charge of the program.

SUBURBIA

'Tis Friday, of course, and we imagine all of our South Hills and Kessler Heights friends are anxious to hear of the to-do's of their neighbors. So—on with the news!

SOUTH HILLS

Neighborhood friends of the R. D. Hoover family were on hand on Thursday to bid farewell to the Hoovers and their children, Michael and Teresa, who departed from their South Hills home and began their trip to Laredo, Tex., where they will reside.

Complimenting Mrs. Hoover at an informal evening coffee on Monday was Mrs. Darrell Grell, and included among the guests for the event, in addition to the honoree, were Mrs. Charles Ness, Mrs. James Splichal, Mrs. Louis Keller, Mrs. Robert Musselman, Mrs. Robert Koehl, Mrs. Donald Bomberger and Mrs. Earl Dorsey.

Speaking of coffees—and farewells—we learn this morning that Mrs. William Thane Miner was a recent hostess when she entertained in courtesy to Mrs. Joseph Hull, who, with her family, now is living in Omaha. Ten neighborhood ladies attended the morning coffee.

After mentioning the departures it's always fun to welcome the newcomers in the suburb. All settled in their home at 1939 Brower Road in South Hills are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bomberger and their children, Mary Louise and David LeRoy. The Bomberger foursome formerly resided at 6836 Cleveland St.

Last Saturday was a festive day for young Jimmy Heard who was honored at a birthday party in celebration of his fifth anniversary. The morning's activities included appropriate games and refreshments, and the guests for the event were Tommy Rice, Randy Beckler, Gay and Roger Hempel, Debby and Steve Kissinger, Connie Cook, Jerry Jorgenson and Mary Kay Roth.

There is a "just-for-fun" affair planned for this evening in South Hills where the host and hostess will be Mr. and Mrs. Don Hoch who will entertain at a pot-luck supper for the junior students in the University of Nebraska College of Dentistry, and their wives. The group will include Mr. and Mrs. Ted Awtry, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bush, Mr. and Mrs. John Coover, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Doyle, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Eyen, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Konegni, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Moss, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Osborn, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Riddell, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sinton, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Saunders, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Slack, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Swain and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Tye.

KESSLER HEIGHTS

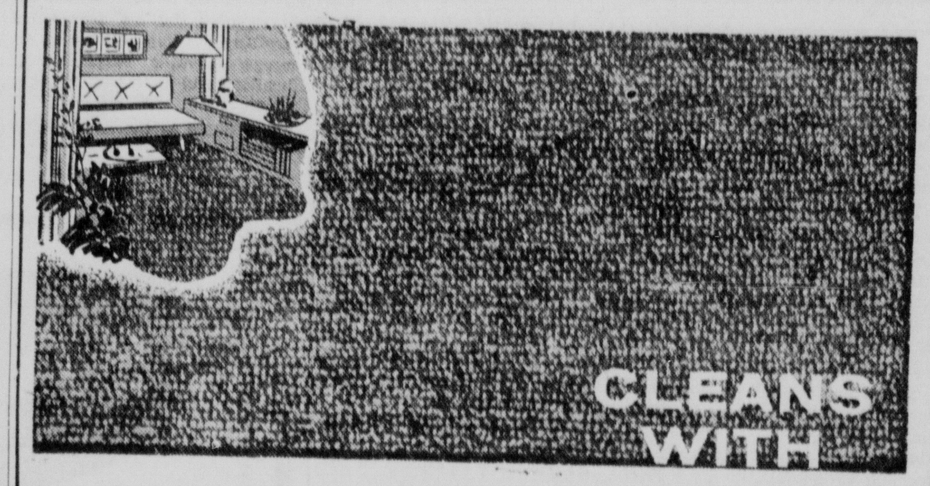

Spending last week in Omaha were Mrs. Charles Erftmeier and her three children, Douglas, Bruce and Dianne. The Erftmeier foursome visited Mrs. Erftmeier's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Grebelski.

Speaking of visitors we learn this Friday ayem that out-of-town guests soon will be traveling to the suburb home of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Mulligan and their son, Eddie. Motoring from Sidney for the week-end visit will be Mrs. Mulligan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Welsh.

There was an informal evening party at the James H. Tice home on Saturday evening when they and Mr. and Mrs. Robert O'Meara were co-hosts and hostesses to Mr. and Mrs. Ed Strobel. The event was in celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Strobel's 12th wedding anniversary.

Mention of the Strobels reminds us that Mrs. Strobel was a coffee hostess on Thursday afternoon. Her guests for the get-to-gether were her mother, Mrs. J. L. Wolfe and Mrs. Don Erickson and her daughter, Conni.

Killian Says He'll 'Move Rapidly' Toward Developing Defenses

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Fifty-three-year-old James R. Killian Jr., president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, took his new appointment as special scientific assistant to President Eisenhower right in stride Thursday night.

He issued a brief statement in which he said he will "move as rapidly as possible" to set up an organization of scientific and engineering talent for development of the nation's defenses.

But he flatly declined to comment to reporters' questions on whether he intended to set up any "crash programs" for satellites, rockets or even expansion of education in the sciences.

In a 15-minute press conference, Dr. Killian parried most of the newsmen's questions by referring them either to the statement he issued or a copy of the text of the President's speech.

President Eisenhower announced the appointment of Dr. Killian to a nationwide television and radio audience from the White House.

Well Kept

Dr. Killian said he knew of his appointment about 10 days ago.

But it was a well kept secret at M.I.T.

A crowd of 100 of the faculty heard the speech in the lounge of the Faculty Club and the first mention of Dr. Killian's name touched off a round of cheers in that group.

Dr. Killian did say that he plans to "taper off here and taper in to the new job" in Washington. He said he will go to Washington next week.

He said he expects to set up a staff of full time aides and to call upon scientists and engineers from all parts of the country to assist him on a part time or full time basis for varying periods.

"The job is one of integration of American science in every proper way with national policymaking, as I say in my statement," he said.

Not Present

Dr. Killian said he was not present at the firing of a rocket which the President disclosed in his speech had gone some 5,000 miles. But he declined to comment on whether or not he had been present at the firing of any other high-altitude rockets.

Dr. Killian, in his prepared statement, said:

"I shall move as rapidly as possible to marshal the best scientific and engineering judgment and creative talent in the United States and to make it available to the President for the formulation of national policy which involves science and technology.

"The President has provided a means to integrate American science in every proper way with national policy making and I shall seek to facilitate this by every means at my disposal.

"A very strong scientific advisory group is an essential part of the plan and the recruiting of this group will proceed with the utmost dispatch.

Conviction

"The President has clearly stated his strong conviction about the importance of science and scientific education to our national life and security and his desire that everything possible be done to encourage scientific research and education, and to strengthen any deficiencies.

"In addition to the departments of government I will work in close association with such important existing agencies as the National Science Foundation and the National Academy of Sciences to further the President's objectives.

"American science and engineering," he said, "possess tremendous strength and vigor; and if we proceed diligently and decisively we can maintain them in the flourishing state required by our national welfare and security and advance steadily in technological strength and achievement.

"The potential for advance is tremendous and knowing as I do the sense of urgency, mission, and dedication in the scientific and engineering community of the United States I am confident it can do the job required by the nation and that we can meet any crisis, just as the American people have always been able to meet any crisis."

Simultaneously, Dr. Killian announced the appointment of the MIT chancellor Dr. Julius A. Stratton by the executive committee to be acting president while Dr. Killian is in Washington.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Husker Tackles Shuffled

. . . Olson To Get Aid

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

Two personnel shifts were made Thursday as the Nebraska Cornhuskers wound up preparations for the invasion of Iowa State Saturday.

The Huskers meet the Cyclones at Ames in a contest that will be telecast in this area over Channel 3.

Mike Cowan of Lincoln, sophomore tackle, has been shifted from the left to the right side of of the line. He'll be the No. 2 right tackle behind Don Olson, the Grand Island soph who has played the part of an iron man in recent games.

John Ponseigo, Chicago soph, has been moved from a guard spot to the No. 3 left tackle position. He'll back up Don Rhoda and Duane Mongerson.

"We had to get some relief for Olson," Coach Bill Jennings said. "Cowan has been playing pretty well for us so we'll use him to spell Don."

Olson played the entire game against Kansas and put in over 50 minutes against Missouri. He also played most of the Syracuse and Pittsburgh games.

The Huskers will fly to Des Moines Friday morning, working out in the afternoon at Drake Stadium and spending the night at the Kirkwood Hotel. They'll bus to Ames Saturday morning.

Only Stu Howerter was listed Thursday as a "doubtful" player against Iowa State. The Omaha veteran who switched from guard to end a couple of weeks ago is just one of several battered NU ends.

Reserve Jim Moore is the only completely-healthy flankman, although everyone else is expected to be ready for action.

The 36-man traveling squad named Thursday by Jennings:

Centers—Dick McCashland, Dick Prusia, Bob Lyall.

Right tackles—Don Olson, Mike Cowan, Mal Dorhman.

Quarterbacks — Roy Stinnett, Harry Tolly, Clyde Haskins.

Left halfbacks—Doug Thomas, Carroll Zaruba, Jim Hergenreter, Dean Flock.

Right halfbacks—Larry Naviaux, Gene Sandage, Leo George.

Fullbacks—Jerry Brown, George Cifra, Gene Haman.

Seward Concordia Rips DC St. Mary's

By AL BEEBE
Star Sports Staff Writer

SEWARD—Unbeaten Seward Concordia, stung by a seven-point deficit after only forty seconds of play, roared back for a 32-13 triumph over David City St. Mary's. The game virtually assured Concordia of top rating in The Star's final Class C rankings, its season finished now.

The win was the eighth in a row for the Red Raiders, while St. Mary's record fell to 3-2-1. It was the first game since October 11 for the DC club, idled since then by flu conditions.

Despite the fact that St. Mary's led in most of the statistics, Concordia was by far the superior club Thursday. Concordia made the most of breaks handed them by St. Mary's and used a cold, north wind to advantage.

St. Mary's out-first downed Concordia 15-11, but were outrushed 224 to 203.

DC St. Mary's	7	0	6	0	—13
Sew. Concordia	0	13	7	12	—32

St. Mary's scoring—touchdowns: Coufal 2 (18, run; 4, run). PAT: Coufal (drop-kick).

Concordia scoring—touchdowns: Bremer (64, run); Ahlschwede 2 (11, run; 36, run); Huelle (35, punt return); L. Oetting (38, run with intercepted pass). PAT: Ahlschwede 2 (placements).

Frick And Officials Mum After 1st PCL Meeting

No Action Taken By BB Heads

NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick and baseball officials explored realignment of the Pacific Coast League Thursday without taking any definite action. Another meeting of all interested parties was called for Tuesday at New York.

Frick's office was most secretive about the session. It even refused to name the hotel where it was held. When some officials were contacted later, they declined to say what cities were discussed in any realignment talk.

The realignment, of course, was necessitated by the move of the Dodgers from Brooklyn to Los Angeles and the Giants from New York to San Francisco. The matter of damages to be paid by these clubs or the National League still is up in the air.

Frick's three paragraph announcement, released by Charlie Segar, secretary of baseball, did not mention any talk of damages. Apparently, such matters are to be determined in other negotiations between the Pacific Coast League representatives and the major league clubs involved.

The announcement that representatives of the American Assn. and Texas League, as well as the Pacific Coast League, met with Commissioner Frick, George Trautman, president of the National Assn. (minors), and Dodger and Giant officials was taken to mean that three minors might be realigned. However, it was learned that the Texas League, at least, was not directly involved in moves discussed Thursday.

Frick's statement:

"Commissioner Frick met Thursday with representatives of the Pacific Coast League, the American Assn., the Texas League, the National Assn., the Giants and Dodgers to discuss the matter of realignment of the Pacific Coast league and other leagues which might be desirable on account of the transfer of the Giants and Dodgers to San Francisco and Los Angeles.

"The meeting was exploratory and various realignments were discussed but no conclusions were reached and no definite action was taken. During the discussion, a number of possibilities were considered which representatives at the meeting will take back to their leagues and clubs for their views.

Hopes To Keep Jinx

LH Coach Ed Schwartzkopf's Links will be bidding to extend the jinx they have held over Northeast since the series began in 1941. Northeast has won but two of the intra-city classics.

Pheasant Hunting Reported Slow

Waterfowl hunting remains good across the state but pheasant hunting rates as slow because of unfavorable weather and road conditions, the State Game Commission reported Thursday.

A lot of ducks are frequenting reservoir areas and duck hunting has been good, too, in the Fremont area, a spokesman said.

Quail hunting was rated good in the southeast but slow elsewhere.

Links Liked Over Rockets In Gala Prep Grid Windup

GAMES TONIGHT

Lincoln High	at Northeast (Wesleyan)	7:30 p.m.
Grand Island	at Southeast (Oval)	7:30 p.m.
Auburn	at Pius X	8 p.m.

By BOB McCOY
Star Sports Staff Writer

Capital City prep football teams wind up their seasons tonight with one final fling which could easily produce the top slate of the season.

All four clubs are scheduled to play in Lincoln, with the renewal of the Lincoln High-Lincoln Northeast grid series heading the card.

Lincoln Southeast closes out against Grand Island while Pius X takes on Auburn.

The Link-Rocket intracity clash at Magee Stadium will be the 17th of the rivalry which dates back to 1941 and tonight's battle may produce one of the closest games of the series.

Lincoln High holds a wide margin in victories, claiming 14 wins in the 16 games. Northeast won only in 1949 and 1950, with both victories coming in the mud. So the Rockets may be hoping for rain tonight.

Both clubs own identical 3-5 records this season, with Grand Island the only common foe. The Islanders whipped Northeast 19-7 after trailing at halftime and beat the Links 20-19 with another second half rally.

Lincoln High posted a 54-12 triumph in last year's contest, which saw the largest point total for both teams run up. But tonight's contest is expected to be much closer, wih the nod going to the Links.

Coach Art Bauer's Northeast club hit its top form of the season last week in drubbing Southeast, 19-6, and may be ready to pull an upset on the Links.

Southeast's contest with Grand Island promises to be another thriller.

Knight coach Tom Gillaspie reported his team at top strength for the game and is hoping for a season-closing victory to make amends for losses to Northeast and Fairbury the past two weeks.

Southeast takes a 5-3 record into the game while Grand Island, The Star's ninth rated Class A team, owns a 7-1 slate with its only loss coming against Hastings.

The Islanders have slumped in recent weeks and are expected to have plenty of trouble with Southeast.

Pius X, too, may have trouble in its season finale against Auburn.

The Thunderbolts showed top form last week in rebounding from a spell of the flu for a 26-0 victory over Hebron, but Auburn looms as a big hurdle.

Auburn owns a 5-2 record for the season with its only losses inflicted by Class A rivals Plattsmouth and Nebraska City.

MOORE BENT ON BOOSTING MARK

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Davey Moore, bent on extending his 1957 winning streak, returns to Washington for the second time this year to meet Jose Cotero in a 10-round featherweight bout at Capitol Arena tonight.

Moore was the underdog when he made his Capitol debut in July but the 24-year-old Springfield, Ohio, scrapper won a unanimous decision over Panama's Isidro Martinez.

Now Davey is a 9-5 favorite to beat Cotero.

The fight will be beamed across country on the regular Friday night TV-radio network, NBC, 9 p.m. CST.

Bisons Fined For Lackluster Play

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Coach Harry Watson fined every man on the Buffalo Bisons $50 for not hustling and called the American Hockey League club to an extra practice session Thursday.

Kubek, Sanford Top 1957 Rookies

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Tony Kubek, the New York Yankees' valuable jack-of-all-trades, and Jack Sanford, a 19-game winning pitcher and strikeout ace of the Philadelphia Phillies, are the 1957 major league Rookies of the Year.

Kubek

A 24-man committee of the Baseball Writers Assn., composed of three from each league city, did the voting. The results were announced Thursday.

Kubek won by a 23-0 landslide. The other ballot named Frank Malzone, Boston Red Sox third baseman, who previously had been declared ineligible because he had 103 at bats in a 1956 trial.

Sanford had more competition, but the Phils' 28-year-old righthander won impressively. He got 17 votes. His closest rival was a teammate, first baseman Eddie Bouchee, who received four votes. Dick Drott, the Chicago Cubs' speedy righthander, had two votes and Bob Hazle, Milwaukee outfielder, had one.

It was a foregone conclusion that Kubek, who was 22 last month, would be the American League winner, after the writers ruled Malzone ineligible. Manager Casey Stengel played the 6-3, 190-pound Milwaukee lad all around the horn. Voted the most likely to succeed at the Yankee camp in spring training although he wasn't even on the big league roster, Kubek finished ninth among the league batters with a .297 average.

Sanford

At various times, Stengel had Kubek at shortstop, second base, third base, left field and center field. In the World Series he also alternated between outfield and infield. Although Kubek was the all-star shortstop of the American Assn. with Denver in 1956, and prefers to play that position, he did a good job wherever he was used.

Kubek's biggest day came in the third game of the world series when he hit two home runs against the Braves in Milwaukee, his home town. However, he made a costly error in the seventh and final game, won by the Braves on Lew Burdette's shutout.

Sanford returned from Army service in time to appear in three games with the Phils in late 1956 but not enough to keep him out of the 1957 rookie class. The 6-foot, 175-pound resident of Hatboro, Pa., finished with a 19-8 won-lost record and a 3.08 earned run average. He completed 15 of 33 starts and pitched three shutouts. Sanford, who had a 10-2 record at the time, was a member of the league's All-Star team and worked an inning in the game at St. Louis.

Top strikeout hurler in the majors with 188 victims, the hard-working Sanford lived up to the brilliant future that Manager Mayo Smith had predicted. He spent seven years in the minors and two in the Army before he finally made it big.

Bouchee, 24, was another of the Phils' fine rookie crop that kept the club up in the race until the late months. A lefthanded batter, who hit .294 at Miami in 1956, Bouchee finished with a .293 average at Philadelphia. He drove in 76 runs and hit 35 doubles, eight triples and 17 homers.

Drott wasn't on the Cubs' roster in spring training but he was very much a part of the club during the season. He had a 15-11 record and his strikeout total of 170 gave him a second-place tie in the National.

Hazle was a late season sensation after the Braves called him up from their Wichita farm in a shuffle necessitated by Bill Bruton's injury. He hit .403 in 41 games.

This is an important week for the Nebraska Cornhuskers. If they can beat Iowa State, the 1957 Huskers can assure themselves of not being the worst club in NU history.

But a loss to Iowa State could mean the Huskers are doomed to a one-win campaign since Colorado and Oklahoma appear too strong for Bill Jennings club. No NU team has failed to win two games, either in Big Six, Big Seven or full season play.

With their backs to the wall, the Cornhuskers should take the measure of the Cyclones. But it will take an all-out effort on the part of the Huskers. Jim Myers has done a fine job at Ames with a handful of personnel.

Any Nebraska overconfidence should be tempered with the fact that field goals have been the margin of victory the past two years. And Iowa State is no doubt improved.

EXTRA POINTS DON'T WORRY SE GRID TEAM

By BOB McCOY
Star Sports Staff Writer

In a football season full of upsets and heart-breaking losses caused by conversion failures, there's at least one coach who's resting easy.

That's Tom Gillaspie, the Lincoln Southeast grid mentor. The reason — a gymnastics accident back in the winter of 1955-56.

Not that the accident itself brought any particular joy at Southeast, but it did produce one of the finest high school kickers in the state in the person of Virgil Kubert.

And if a placekick or punt in the Knights' 1957 season finale tonight against Grand Island is needed, there's certainly no cause for alarm.

Kubert's case is a strange one, with a history dating back to the aforementioned accident.

Kubert

The 5-8, 150 pound Southeast senior began his football career back in the fall of 1955 as a back when the school went into its first year of operation.

As a sophomore, he played well enough to earn a letter and was listed as a top prospect for future Southeast grid plans.

But, during the winter, he injured his arm in a gymnastics workout and was ordered out of football under doctor's orders.

But the Southeast coaching staff convinced the doctors that Kubert could see football action if he only kicked extra points.

So the lad went to work. And it was no easy chore. While other Southeast gridders scrimmaged, Kubert was busy practice kicking extra points. Soon this became tiring, so he switched to punting.

When the season started, Kubert was well polished in both aspects of the game. He finished the season with six conversions in ten attempts and carried a respectable punting average. This was in 1956.

This season he has been restored to full time duty, seeing action on offense and defense along with his kicking chores. And the conversion record for this year shows 14 perfect boots in 22 tries, with four tries blocked.

Tonight may be the acid test. Grand Island has been mediocre on conversions, showing one victory (20-19) over Lincoln High and a loss to Hastings (14-13) in close contests.

Kubert has never been really tested in two years of kicking, as Southeast has never finished with the same number of touchdowns as its foe.

But tonight may be the night, and with Kubert in the game, the Knights may get a chance to whip the Islanders, either on a placement or a pressure punt.

Spartan Coach Admits Irish Good: MSU Went After Many Of Notre Dame's Stars

By BOB VOGES

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—"I know Notre Dame is good," declared Michigan State Coach Duff Daughterty whose team meets the Irish here Saturday.

How does Daughterty know?

"Because they picked up about 15 boys we wanted," grinned Daughtery. "Top players in their high schools. We tried our darndest to get them to come here, but they went to Notre Dame."

Daughtery ticked off the names of such star Irish performers as tackles Don Lawrence and Bronko Nagurski, guards Bob Pietrzak and Dick Shulsen and quarterback Bob Williams.

"All boys we wanted," Daughterty commented. "But at least we've got some Irishmen to throw at them."

Captain Pat Burke of Michigan State, who couldn't be anything else but an Irishman, will be at the coin toss before the game with Notre Dame Co-captains Ed Sullivan and Dick Prendergast.

Such other stellar Spartan performers as center Dan Currie, halfback Dean Look, tackle Tom McNeeley, and guards Russ Kelly, Ron Rickens and Don Wright all trace their ancestry back to the Ould Sod.

Some fellows with very un-Irish names also figure big in both lineups.

Notre Dame has to stop hefty Walt Kowalcyk, top ground gainer from right half, to slow the Spartans. Quarterback Jim Ninowski will try to take the pressure off Walt with his passing.

Nick Petrosante s one of the best Irish fullbacks in recent years. Guards Ali Ecuyer has been a terror n the Irish line along with tackle Charlie Puntillo.

The personal trophy between Daugherty and Notre Dame Coach Terry Brennan is a shillelagh that has been swopped back and forth since both became head coaches in 1954.

Both teams have one loss going into the game, Michigan State to Purdue and Notre Dame to Navy. Michigan State rates fourth in the AP poll while Notre Dame is 15th.

"But anyone who takes odds is crazy," Daughtery said. "They want to beat us as badly as we want to beat them."

If its any comfort to those who can't join the sellout crowd of 76,000, chilly football-watching weather is predicted with a temperature of around 38 degrees with occasional snow flurries. The Notre Dame squad will arrive by special train just before the 12:30 p.m., CST, kickoff.

Stockholm Gets Meet

TEHRAN (AP)—The International Weightlifting Congress decided Thursday that the 1958 World Weightlifting Championships will be held Sept. 16-21 in Stockholm. The 1959 championships were awarded to India.

Meanwhile, 123 weightlifters prepared themselves for the 1957 world championship which begins today.

Cougar Passer Bob Newman Got Boost From Cinder Coach

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP) — Bobby Newman, the nation's new total offense leader as a football pitcher, is also a fine defensive catcher in baseball but it took a track coach to get anybody interested.

Newman, only a junior but already hailed as the greatest passing quarterback in the game's 63-year history at Washington State College, is a Californian who was overlooked by scouts at home and is now striking back as a No. 1 enemy of California football.

If he can take the Cougars by UCLA at Spokane Saturday, WSC will have beaten every California school in the Pacific Coast Conference and that has never happened before in a single season. WSC now has a 4-3 record.

Newman grew up at El Cerrito, Calif., only a few miles from the University of California and not far from Stanford. But his high school team lost so often he drew little attention.

Hale Roach, a former Cougar athlete who coaches track at El Cerrito, still thought he had football and baseball promise, sold WSC and steered him here. Newman came unheralded and stayed unnoticed for two years.

He was a quarterback on the 1954 freshman team but few remember whether he was much good or not. He laid off in 1955, then returned when Jim Sutherland replaced Al Kircher as coach and the single wing was junked for the T formation.

Newman, a 6-foot-2, 190-pounder with a great touch, broke three school passing records in his sophomore year, completing 91 of 170 passes for 1,240 yards. Now he holds every campus record but two and until Oct. 19 it appeared he might take WSC to the Rose Bowl.

On that day, the Cougars lost 14-13 to Oregon after Newman's celebrated second guess of the coach on a conversion try. Sutherland sent fullback Ed Stevens in to kick but the confident Newman overruled him, tried it himself and missed the chance for a tie when the ball hit the goal post and bounced back.

Sutherland didn't scold. He even complimented Newman for courage to make a big decision on his own and thinks he has great potential as a professional. He will be eligible for the National Football League draft this winter since his original WSC class graduates in June.

In the season opener Newman passes helped beat the Nebraska gridders.

Newman leads the nation's major colleges in total offense with 1,001 yards on 180 plays in seven games, all but 89 yards coming on passes.

If Newman doesn't crack all the records this fall, his fan club here figures he'll have 11 games to do it next season, the 10 already scheduled and an 11th on New Years Day.

Widow Awarded $19,000 Payment

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — The town of Westerly was ordered Thursday to pay more than $19,000 to the widow and seven children of a former football coach and high school teacher who died after being forced "by professional duties" to play in a softball game.

Workmen's Compensation Commissioner Herman D. Ferrara announced his decision after hearing an appeal of the widow of John Di Gangi, onetime Holy Cross College football star.

Ferrara said Di Gangi, 5-feet-11, 290 pounds, was performing his duties as a teacher when he was engaged to play first base on the faculty team in an annual contest.

Ferrara said the softball game induced, triggered and contributed to the coronary thrombosis which caused his death half an hour after the game.

Falcons, Mizzou To Meet In '59

Hoffmans Display Huge Deer

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hoffman of Wilber proudly display a huge buck bagged on a deer hunting trip in the Nebraska Sandhills area. Hoffmans' deer weighed 230 pounds hog dressed and had an antler spread of 30 inches. Hoffman believed his prize represented one of the largest deer shot in Nebraska this year. Mrs. Hoffman got into the act, too, bagging a four point deer which weighed 150 pounds dressed. (Photo Special to The Star).

Knight Reserves Trip LHS Sophs

Dennis Puelz tallied two touchdowns to lead the Lincoln Southeast reserves to a 27-6 victory over the Lincoln High sophomores Thursday.

Puelz went five yards off tackle to score the first Knight touchdown after Bob Siedell had galloped 35 yards to set it up. After Jeff Roberts went 40 yards for the second Southeast marker, Puelz got into the act again by taking a 40-yard aerial from Wayne Kubert.

Dallas Svoboda got the final Southeast touchdown. Bill Wilson ra. 15 yards to register Lincoln High's only marker.

The victory left the Southeast season record at 4-0-1.

Southeast	13	7	7	0	—27
Lincoln High	0	0	6	0	—6

Southeast scoring: Touchdowns—Puelz 2 (5, run; 40, pass from Kubert); Roberts (40, run); Svoboda (1, plunge). PAT—Puelz 2, Bill Wright.

Lincoln High scoring: Touchdown—Wilson (15, run).

Yank Netters Pressed

SYDNEY, Australia — Uncle Sam's five Davis Cup players were hard pressed Thursday to win their second round matches from minor Australians in the second round of the New South Wales Tennis Championships.

Bob Harbison, assistant football coach at Florida State University, has been on the staff 10 years although he's only 30 years old.

Dedicate Dropped

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP) — Round Table, Gallant Man and Bold Ruler in a race for the 3-year-old championship is the way the $75,000 added Trenton Handicap shaped up Thursday with the announcement that Mrs. Jan Burke's handicap ace, Dedicate, has been scratched.

Eddie Burke, Mrs. Burke's husband telephoned racing secretary Ty Shea early Thursday that the 5-year-old Dedicate had come up with a bruised right hoof and would have to pass the mile and a quarter Trenton on Sunday.

Yanks, Phils Plan Spring Barnstorm

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees will barnstorm home from spring training with the Philadelphia Phillies in April in a departure from usual Yankee policy.

Normally the Yanks play several minor league clubs in their home parks on the way back to New York from their St. Petersburg, Fla. base.

With the departure of the Dodgers for Los Angeles, the Phillies will take over the usual home-and-home week end series before opening day. The Phils will play at Yankee Stadium, Saturday April 12 and the Yanks will visit Philadelphia Sunday April 13.

What Is It?

That's what members of the Soukup family, of 230 S. 26th in Lincoln, would like to know. Father Frank (center) shot the bird near Grafton last week, and believes the bird, liberally sprinkled with pure white feathers, may be an albino pheasant. Star photographer Web Ray, however, thought perhaps a white chicken may have been mixed into the pheasant's parentage. Sons Glen (left) and Allen were also on the hunting trip when the albino was taken.

Campbell Raises Speed Record

CONISTON, Eng. (AP) — Donald Campbell raised his world water speed record to 239.07 miles per hour Thursday and then hinted he would try soon for 300 m.p.h. in a radically new type "Bluebird" boat.

"We have hopes for the future," the handsome, 36-year-old Englishman said after his record run over Lake Coniston. "We have no intentions of packing the job in. Next year you may see a rather stranger looking animal," he said, pointing to the present two pontooned jet craft which goes so fast it almost takes off.

Aurora-NC Slate Tilt

Flu at Holdrege postponed its football game for the second straight week Thursday, this time tonight's scheduled contest with McCook. But at the same time, two flu postponements set up what may be one of the best games of the week.

Aurora, the No. 2 Class B team in The Star's ratings, had been slated to play Ord, but Ord's school is closed this week due to flu. And Nebraska City, a Class A eleven just outside the top 10, was to play Tecumseh, but Tecumseh also got the bug.

So, a phone call brings together Nebraska City at Aurora tonight.

South Can Wrap Up State Crown Today

Omaha South attempts to wrap up the state Class A football championship in its final game today, meeting rugged rival Omaha North in a 2 p.m. game at Benson field.

It will be the final game of the season for both clubs, and a win would give South a perfect 8-0 record. The game is the highlight of today's schedule, though Lincoln has a full slate of top games.

Lincoln High and Lincoln Northeast meet in their annual battle tonight, while Lincoln Southeast hosts tough Grand Island, east division winner in the Big 10. Pius X plays host tonight to Auburn.

Omaha Westside is the only other Omaha club with a game yet to play, and that's at Norfolk today. All other clubs completed their seasons last week.

There are also some top-notch Class A games and some good inter-class contests this week, the final big one of the season. Some late contests and makeup games will continue the season through next week for some 30 games.

Lexington, still unbeaten and with an undented goal line, gets its final test at North Platte, a sometimes - up - but - mostly-down team this year. Hastings is at Fremont in a Big 10 clash, and Falls City at Fairbury is another rugged Class A game.

Top inter-class tilts find Beatrice at Crete, Kearney at Gothenburg, Nebraska City and Aurora, and Sidney at York.

In Class B, top-ranked Cozad has another tough threat in Minden, Friend is at Deshler, Plainview plays at Valentine, and Schuyler is at Wahoo.

Other games include Oxford at Alma, Cambridge at Arapahoe, Burwell at Arcadia, Ashland at North Bend, Bridgeport at Bayard, Mitchell at Gering, Grant at Oshkosh, and Glenwood, Ia., at Plattsmouth.

Most eight and six-man clubs have wound up their seasons, but there is a sprinkling of good games. Utica is at Ceresco, Lawrence at Davenport, Amherst at Elm Creek (both unbeaten), Exeter at Mead, and Hayes Center at Red Willow in eight-man action.

In six-man, Greeley Sacred Heart is at Cedar Rapids, Diller at Beatrice St. Joe, and Elmwood at Brock.

'57 NU Gridders To Meet Again

The tenth reunion of the 1947 University of Nebraska football team will be held following the Oklahoma-Nebraska game Nov. 23. Bernie Masterson, now of Chicago, who coached the team, will be there.

Elwyn Dees, trainer, and Assistant Coach Dougal Russell also will attend, according to Alex Cochrane, who has been spearheading the get-together. Dees now farms in Kansas and Russell lives at Manhattan, Kan.

Among the players who plan to attend are Dale Adams, Lincoln; Alex Cochrane, Lincoln; Cletus Fischer, Omaha South coach; Ken Fischer, Blair coach; Fred Golan, Omaha; Rex Hoy, Kansas City, Kan.; Jerry Jacupke, Grand Island; Dr. Arden Means, Holdrege; Bill Mueller, Omaha; Bob Mullen, Lincoln; Tom Novak, Lincoln; Joe Partington, Grand Island; Carl Samuelson, Lincoln; Wally Hopp, Hastings; Bob Lipp, Lincoln; Sam Vacanti, Omaha; Bob Tegt, Fremont, and Ed Schwartzkopf, Lincoln High coach.

Allen, Henshel Settle Dispute

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Retired basketball coach Forest C. (Phog) Allen and Col. Harry D. Henshel, chairman of the AAU's Olympic basketball committee, Thursday settled amicably a nearly two-year-old court battle that stemmed from a name-calling exchange.

A $35,000 damage suit for defamation of character by Henshel against Allen and a countersuit by Allen, both filed in U.S. District Court at Kansas City, were dismissed "with prejudice." That is a legal agreement against the claims being revived.

The argument stemmed from the AAU's action in disbarring American miler Wes Santee from competition in the last Olympic games because of expense payments made to the former Kansas University track star for participation in several west coast meets.

Moens To Do Utmost

BRUSSELS (AP)—Roger Moens of Belgium, holder of the world 800-meter record, said Thursday he would do his utmost to accept an invitation for the mile race at Compton, Calif., June 6, 1958.

Knick Cager Gardner, 24, Has Heart Trouble; Quits

NEW YORK (AP) — A "silent" heart attack suffered within the last two months has ended the pro basketball career of 24-year-old Willie Gardner, the New York Knickerbockers announced Thursday.

Doctors made known their decision as Gardner, purchased for $30,000 by the Knicks from the Harlem Globetrotters last spring, was released from St. Clare's Hospital after a 25-day period of observation. The club said doctors described a "silent" attack as one in which the victim experiences no pain or untoward discomfort. Gardner was told he could live a normal life provided he did no hard labor.

The 6-8 Gardner's heart ailment was first detected Sept. 23 during a routine physical examination given all members of the National Basketball Assn. club. After a checkup, Gardner rejoined the Knicks at their training camp for two weeks and played in two exhibition games before returning to the hospital Oct. 13.

Informed of the doctors' findings, Coach Vince Boryla of the Knicks said: "We're happy we found it oht for the boy's sake. Nothing is more important than his health."

Gardner, who figured prominently in the New York club's plans for this season, joined the Globetrotters in 1954 after he was graduated from Crispus Attucks High School in Indianapolis. He spent 1955 and most of 1956 in the Army, including 10 months in Germany, returning to the Globetrotters for their 1956-57 tour.

INDIANA NAMES RECRUITER

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—Bob Dro, 39, basketball and baseball star at Indiana in 1937-41, was named head athlete recruiter at the university Thursday, with the title of assistant athletic director.

"It is one of the steps we are taking to strengthen the I.U. athletic program, particularly in football," said Frank E. Allen, athletic director.

Indiana has had another disappointing season in football, having won only one of six games. The team's leading ground gainer, fullback John Meegan of Uniontown, Pa., a sophomore, dropped out of school Wednesday.

Phil Dickens, Indiana's new head football coach, was suspended for a year by the Big Ten last summer for overstepping conference rules on recruiting offers.

Allen said Dro will "supervise and direct athletic recruiting in accordance with Big Ten and NCAA rules, assist in contacts with high school coaches and coordinate an expanded alumni program."

Doane-Peru Tilt Reslated Nov. 11

PERU — The Peru State-Doane College football game which was postponed Wednesday because of an outbreak of flu on the Doane team, has been rescheduled for Nov. 11 at Peru.

Doane coach Al Papik had reported 29 gridders out with the flu, necessitating postponement of the contest which was slated for tonight. The game is a Nebraska College Conference affair.

VA To Move Loan Guaranty Offices Here

. . . From Omaha

Loan Guaranty activities of the Veterans Administration, located in Omaha the past several years, will be moved to Lincoln by Dec. 15, according to A. H. Duxbury, manager of the regional office in Lincoln.

He said a reduction in the workload and personnel of the Loan Guaranty function makes the move feasible.

The space in Omaha is being made available to the VA area medical office of St. Paul, Minn., which recently announced plans to move its offices to Omaha.

Duxbury said that by consolidating the Loan Guaranty operation with the Lincoln office, available space can be utilized, personnel shifted from one activity to another to help meet peakloads and operation costs sharply reduced.

The Loan Guaranty Division at its peak had 28 employes, but is now down to 12, with further reductions scheduled soon.

Duxbury said personnel working at Omaha will have an opportunity to transfer to Lincoln if they wish.

Liquor Tax Revenue Dips

The Nebraska Liquor Coptrol Commission collected $256,001.36 in taxes during October. The amount is down more than $47,000 from the figure for the same month last year.

Revenue collections as of Nov. 1, 1957, total $2,502,342.65, compared to $2,564,076 during the first 10 months of last year.

Moisture In Corn, Borers, Absence Of Dry Weather Worry West Area

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP)—High moisture content in cornfields, a surprisingly large amount of corn borers, and absence of warm, dry weather are combining to worry North Platte area farmers.

"This situation is getting serious," said agronomist Bob Ramig at the North Platte Experiment Station.

"But's it's nothing to get panicky about—we'll just have to sit tight, and wait for drying weather to take down the kernel moisture to where corn can be safely picked and stored," he added.

Maximum moisture for safe storing of corn with a mechanical drier is about 30 to 35 per cent; without a drier it must be down to 15 to 20 per cent.

Ramig said mositure tests taken at the experiment station showed corn there with 30 per cent moisture in the kernels. He added that percentages probably vary 10 to 15 per cent either way in other North Platte area fields.

Nebraska News

In addition to the mositure problem, corn is suffering a surprisingly large infestation of borers in the area, according to Dr. Ken Pruess, entomologist at the experiment station.

He and Ramig agreed the two circumstances combined to make an unattractive picture for farmers. Pruess checked a field at the experiment station for borers and found 88 per cent infestation of the stalks.

Lloyd Anderson, extension entomologist from the University of Nebraska, visited the station and reported that some fields he had checked in the Maxwell, Cozad, and Gothenburg area showed up to 90 per cent infestation.

Borer Problem Surprises

The entomologists admitted they were disconcerted by the large number of borers, because they had detected no signs of a big brood hatching this year.

"We took no unusual borer-control steps this year," said one, "because we kept pretty close track of the hatchings and there was no large single brood. Apparently they just sneaked up on us."

The borers and past frosts may cause another problem, Ramig said. "If some of those ears the borers have got to aren't picked before the stalks dry a little more, many of them will break off and fall to the ground."

"Then they'll be lost at least to a mechanical picker."

Scottish Rite Reunion Closes With Banquet

OMAHA (AP)—The 134th reunion of Scottish Rite bodies of eastern Nebraska and western Iowa closed Thursday night with a banquet at which the Rabbi Samuel Thurman, grand chaplain of Missouri Masons, was the speaker.

Officers of the 134th class are Edwin N. Solomon, Omaha, president; Myron R. Westcott, Omaha, vice president; Robert L. Kirk, Omaha, secretary; Rene L. Hlavac, Omaha, treasurer, and Robert B. Conrad, Genoa, orator.

Dr. H. B. Morton Is Reported Improved

Dr. H. B. Morton, president of the Lancaster County Medical Society, was reported improved Thursday, after being in "moderately serious" condition, according to his physician.

Dr. Morton became ill in Seward and was later brought to Lincoln by ambulance.

Firm Authorized To Plan Sewage Plant Rebuilding

HOLDREGE, Neb. (AP)—The City Council has moved nearer the possible rebuilding of the Holdrege sewage plant. The Henningson, Durham and Richardson firm of Omaha was authorized to draw up plans and specifications for the proposed rebuilding. And Mayor James F. Swanson was authorized to sign an agreement reserving the maximum of $57150 federal aid for Holdrege, in case the construction is undertaken.

A. J. Tool, 88, Longtime Murdock Businessman, Dies

Lincoln Star Special

MURDOCK, Neb. — A. J. Tool, 88, of Murdock, who had operated a hardware store here for more than 50 years, died at his home.

Funeral services will be 2 p.m. Saturday at the Murdock Evangelical Church, the Rev. R. A. Heim officiating. Burial will be at the Calahan Cemetery.

Mr. Tool had been a Mason for more than 50 years and was a member of the Elmwood Lodge.

Surviving are his wife, Emma; Mich.; two daughters, Mrs. Katherine Work of Omaha, and Margaret Meyer of Sioux City.

Suit Dismissed

SOUTH SIOUX CITY, Neb.—The $20,807 damage suit filed in District Court by Gladys Nieman against Clara Kamrath of Ponca has been dismissed after a settlement was made out of court. The suit was filed as the result of an accident in South Sioux City in December, 1956.

'Many Famous People In History Probably Needed Psychiatric Care'

OMAHA (AP)—A University of Pennsylvania psychiatrist said Thursday many famous people of the past, like Abraham Lincoln, Thomas Jefferson and Leo Tolstoy, probably needed psychiatric care.

Dr. Kenneth E. Appel, here to address the Omaha-Midwest Clinical Society meeting, said the fact these famous men succeeded as they did is a tribute to their tremendous inner drives. The drives, he explained allowed them to overcome what were in many instances severe mental disorders.

"Both Jefferson and Lincoln had severe depressions. Lincoln, especially, lived in utter loneliness a great part of his life," Dr. Appel said.

"But both men had such tremendous desires to do good that they overcame the depressions by themselves."

Dr. Appel said both probably would have benefitted by psychiatric care, and become even successful.

Albert Einstein, he continued, was shy and withdrawn as a child. Leo Tolstoy once jumped out of a window on the belief he could fly and Isaac Newton had "severe disturbances."

Russian Show Of Might Lacks Big Surprises

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union paraded a mighty array of new tactical rockets and guns at its 40th birthday celebration Thursday without unveiling any of the major surprises the world had been led to expect.

The big puzzlers for Western military men in the massive march in Red Square were two huge guns of strange design. Moscow Radio talked of "a new type of artillery based on the principle of jet propulsion," but there was no explanation.

There were many tactical weapons capable of delivering atomic warheads. The biggest rockets were 70 to 75-footers in the 400-500-mile range.

Assailed U.S.

With most leaders of the Communist world looking on, Defense Minister Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky assailed the United States in the major speech of the day. He declared the Soviet people "ardently desire peace" but that "the Soviet armed forces are capable of crushing any aggressor."

He accused "aggressive circles in the U.S.A." of preventing disarmament and "threatening mankind with the dangers of atomic war."

Malinovsky stood atop the Lenin-Stalin tomb where Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov—the man he replaced in the defense ministry two weeks ago—had taken the salutes and reviewed the anniversary military parades for five years. Zhukov was nowhere in sight.

Communist Party Secretary Nikita Khrushchev, Premier Nikolai Bulganin, President Klementi Voroshilov, other Soviet leaders and such visiting big-wigs as Mao Tze-Tung of China also stood atop the tomb.

90 Per Cent Beet Harvest Completed

Lincoln Star Special

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. — The sugar beet harvest in the North Platte Valley has headed into the home stretch with 90 per cent of the 1957 crop harvested, Great Western Sugar Co. officials reported Thursday.

The Scottsbluff factory dumps had received 93 per cent of that district's crop and the Gering district was figured to have unloaded 91 per cent of its beets.

"It has been a hard job but farmers have kept their tractors and equipment going and have been doing a good job under these conditions," M. S. Clement, manager for Great Western, commented.

Corn Harvest Slowed

The potato harvest was written off as complete November 1 with the yield below par. There have been some 500 bushels per acre yields reported and some have run as low as 150 bushels.

October's cool damp weather and cloudiness have slowed the corn harvest. It has been too wet and too cool for the corn to dry enough to put in cribs without mechanical drying equipment.

County Agent George Hamilton said the 50,000 acres of corn in Scotts Bluff County have not been damaged much by frosts and the freeze but said "we are getting some soft corn."

41 Districts May Merge; Vote Dec. 11

FALLS CITY, Neb. (AP)—An election has been set for Dec. 11 to decide whether to merge the 41 school districts in Area II in Richardson County.

Included in the area, one of three proposed by the county redistricting committee, are the towns of Salem, Verdon, Stella, Shubert and Barada. One high school would be substituted for the four now operating in the area.

The consolidated district proposed would have 490 children in kindergarten through the sixth grade and 340 pupils in the seventh through the 12th grade. The district would have an estimated valuation for taxation purposes of 10½ million dollars and an average levy of 18.5 mills.

Scouts Raise $300 In Drive To Finance Trip To Colorado

Lincoln Star Special

MILFORD, Neb. — Special money-raising projects and donations have netted approximately $300 of the $400 needed to send Boy Scout Troop 290 of Milford to the National Grange convention in Colorado Springs, Colo., Nov. 14, where the troop will receive an award for the outstanding Grange troop of the year.

Scoutmaster Hilton Peterson reported that more fund-raising activities to help defray expenses of the trip are scheduled for this Saturday. "We are confident that we will reach our goal," he said, "We are definitely going."

About 21 scouts and five leaders will leave by train or bus Nov. 13.

Troop 290, selected as the outstanding troop of some 500 Grange-sponsored troops throughout the nation, is the first Nebraska troop ever to receive this distinction.

Organized by the Milford Grange in 1954, the troop has grown from eight to 25. Members have attended summer camp, participated in expositions and circuses, helped usher at the University of Nebraska football games and conducted get-out-the vote campaigns in Milford and several nearby communities.

The troop distinguished itself during the Milford torando disaster last April. Members were credited with saving at least two lives. They also took part in the clean-up and served as guides when the community held its open house.

Mental Illness Complaint Filed In 'Space Ship' Case

Board Hearing Asked Soon For Schmidt

KEARNEY, Neb. (AP) — Buffalo County Attorney Kenneth Gotobed said Thursday night the family of R. O. Schmidt, the man who reported visiting a space ship Tuesday night, has asked a mental hearing for Schmidt as soon as possible.

The county attorney said psychiatrists who examined Schmidt reported him as "very ill" and said "he needs help immediately."

The announcement came shortly after officials had issued another statement saying the hearing had been postponed indefinitey.

Held In Custody

Schmidt remained in custody.

County Attorney Kenneth Gotobed filed a mental illness complaint after two psychiatrists had examined Schmidt.

He added that Defense Department representatives have completed their on-the-scene investigations of Schmidt's strange tale but some laboratory reports have not yet been received. These included a study of fingerprints on oil cans found in the brush and in the rear of Schmidt's car, which apparently are linked to the oil spot on the ground, one of Schmidt's principal bits of supporting evidence for his strange tale. Police Chief Thurston Nelson said Thursday a can opener with fresh oil on it also had been found in Schmidt's car.

'Frozen In Memory'

Schmidt, who has been in custody since Wednesday, remained in jail, but Gotobed said he would be able to confer with his attorney.

The county attorney said Schmidt's reaction to questioning had been "practically nil."

"He uses almost the exact words each time he tells his story, indicating the story is frozen in his memory." He added that after talking to the doctors he would conclude that with Schmidt's particular type of illness he "greatly desires recognition and publicity."

Schmidt got both when he told his strange tale of visiting a space ship parked on the banks of the Platte River and chatted with its crew for about a half hour before the ship rose into the air and vanished. From the outset officials were skeptical. The physical evidence was almost non-existant and "not a soul" could be found who saw or heard anything that might lend credence to Schmidt's story. But large contingents of newsmen descended on Kearney and the loquacious Schmidt's bizarre tale was widely distributed.

Colder Temps To Cover Plains

Precipitation is expected over most of the eastern third of the U.S. Friday, appearing as rain in the middle and southern sections and as snow or snow mixed with rain in the northern parts. Snow is also expected in eastern Dakota and Montana. It will be much colder in the northern states from the Lakes to northern Rockies; colder in Ohio and central Mississippi valleys and central Plains; and milder in the central Rockies. Judy Leaves Hospital After 109 Days

ALLIANCE, Neb. (AP)—Judy Diehl, 17-year-old Cozad girl, who has been hospitalized for 109 days following a harrowing plane crash, left the hospital and returned to her home in Cozad Thursday by ambulance.

Judy was trapped for nearly 40 hours in the wreckage of a light plane, which crashed south of Bingham, Neb., July 10 killing her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Merrit Diehl, and the pilot, Milo German, all of Cozad.

Finally rescue planes spotted her waving a white scarf and came down to take her from the plane. Her injuries included a badly fractured left thigh, and she was in traction until mid-October.

Letters and gifts have poured into the hospital from the outset and Judy has maintained a resolutely cheerful attitude. She is unable to walk yet, but expects to begin walking again as soon as she gains a little more strength.

Hominy Load Kills Worker

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia. (INS)—A 54-year-old elevator foreman was killed Thursday when he was buried in a bin of hominy at the Peet Manufacturing Co. in Council Bluffs.

The victim was identified as Herman Claussen, an employe of the firm about 18 years.

Firm officials said Claussen apparently had crawled into a trap door at the side and bottom of the bin, possibly to dislodge some hominy that had become jammed at the top, and the load suddenly poured down on him.

U.S. Is Cool To Red Bid For Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States showed little interest Thursday in Soviet party chief Khrushchev's newest bid for a high level East-West conference to settle cold war problems.

State Department reaction took two forms:

1. Secretary Dulles said existing international agreements "are adequate" to outlaw war—a goal which Khrushchev professes to seek.

2. A formal reply by a department spokesman said such international conferences should be avoided until there is "reasonable grounds for expecting they would bring beneficial results."

The spokesman made clear he did not believe such favorable conditions exist now.

Not Ruled Out

Dulles did not rule out any East-West contact as a means of easing tensions. But, he took the position that Khrushchev's newest call for top-level talks was so vague that he was not actively interested.

Press officer Lincoln White, commenting on the Khrushchev speech, underscored the American view that no exclusive Russian-American deal to settle world issues was possible because the United States would never enter into deals without its allies.

Dulles left for a week-end vacation with a big briefcase full of documents which he said he intended to study intensively. These were mainly what he described as a "great many proposals" for new moves to strengthen co-operation among Atlantic Pact countries to surpass Russia's scientific achievements.

Labor Shortage

VIENNA (AP)—Sofia newspaper reports say 50 per cent of Bulgaria's cotton and tobacco crops are rotting unpicked because of a shortage of farm hands on state-run collectives. "Each year it is the same story," said one dispatch. "The fields are white with cotton but there are not enough pickers and hardly any machines to bring it in."

ICC Hearing On 'Hot Cargo' Clause Involves '56 Nebraska Boycott Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—The full Interstate Commerce Commission heard arguments Thursday on what, if anything, it should do when a "hot cargo" contract clause hinders truck transport.

The term is applied by labor unions to materials they contend are handled or produced by firms in unfair labor practices.

Under Teamsters Union contracts with many truckers, union members may refuse to handle such goods without fear of discharge. This conflicts with the truckers' general obligation to transport all merchandise.

The hearing stems from two directly contradictory conclusions of ICC hearing examiners who took testimony in trucking boycott cases involving companies headquarters at Houston, Tex., and Lincoln, Neb.

In the Houston company case, Examiner Frank R. Saltzman said that when a licensed motor carrier refuses to do business with another trucker whose freight the union has labeled "hot," the commission should act to revoke his permit.

1956 Boycott

In the Lincoln case Examiner Michael B. Driscoll reported a union-promoted boycott in 1956 undoubtedly damaged the business of nonunion trucking concerns. But he said this was a labor difficulty which could be dealt with only by the National Labor Relations Board or by Congress—not by ICC.

The Lincoln case involves 12 nonunion eastern Nebraska truckers who experienced diffficulty in getting interchange at Omaha. Examiner Driscoll said "union pressure" was in evidence.

The companies formed Nebraska Shortline Carriers Inc. and obtained temporary ICC authority to operate between Chicago, St. Louis and Omaha.

Driscoll concluded, with respect to those truckers who refused to do business with Nebraska Shortline, that "it was not illogical nor unbusinesslike to more or less go along with their union or at least not to get in trouble with it."

Not Boy Scouts

He commented: "Everybody knows that labor unions are not like Boy Scout organizations."

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce told the ICC Thursday it is faced with a decision whether the Teamsters Union can dictate who is eligible to get interstate trucking services.

Henry J. Lambeth, Chamber attorney, appeared before the ICC to support a charge by Galveston Truckline Corp., Houston, that the Teamsters in 1955 misused the "hot cargo" clause in their standard contract to injure Galveston's business.

Offices To Close On Veterans Day

All city, state and federal offices in Lincoln will be closed Monday in observance of Veterans Day.

This will include the City Hall, Courthouse, Statehouse, all offices in the main Post office building and all Post Office stations.

The City Council, which regularly meets on Monday, will meet instead on Tuesday at 1:30 p.m.

Local Checker Cab Appeal Is Dismissed

The Nebraska Supreme Court has issued a mandate dismissing an appeal by three of the four owners of the Checker Cab Co. of Lincoln from a decision by the State Railway Commission which revoked the company's operating certificates last spring.

The three owners involved, Virginia Tate, Henry Zoller and Jessie Wilkinson, had requested that the suit be dismissed.

The State Railway Commission May 15 revoked the company's authority to operate a taxi service on the grounds of their alleged willful failure to comply with Nebraska statutes and Commission rules and regulations.

Inadequate Service Charged

The company was specifically charged with failure to render reasonably adequate service; failure to maintain modern taxi cab facilities commensurate with the needs of the traveling public, and failure to charge rates lawfully prescribed.

The Commission has since authorized Lincoln Cabs, Inc., incorporated by William, Lois and Charles Deneke, to do business as a taxi service in Lincoln.

It was one of three applications made following Checker Cab Company's revocation. The other two have withdrawn their applications.

Baldrige Claims Days Of Politics Are Over For Him

OMAHA (AP)—H. Malcolm Baldrige, former congressman from Omaha, said Thursday politics are over for him. Baldrige, served in the house from 1931 to 1933. Three years ago he ran for the short Senate term and was defeated.

Baldrige, now 59, says it's hard to get politics out of your blood but his campaigning days are over. He is now general counsel for the United States Sugar Refiners Assn. He said he plans to work a while longer, then retire and return to Omaha.

Bladrige was on a visit to Omaha.

Office To Close

The Railway Express Agency has received authorization from the State Railway Commission to close its Burchard express office, effective Dec. 5.

Professor Laments Shortage In U.S. Of String Players

Prof. Emanuel Wishnow, conductor of the University of Nebraska Symphony Orchestra, said Thursday he fears America may one day have to import string players, as it was forced to import opera singers at the turn of the century.

Addressing the Sertoma Club, he said: "I feel we should be concerned with producing them (string players) on a local level. This would lend emphasis to our desire for cultural as well as scientific advances."

Rocket Fuel Shares Soar

NEW YORK (AP)—Rocket fuel shares raced ahead Thursday inspiring a previously laggard stock market to a good rally.

Word that Russia's Sputnik II was boosted into space by a liquid super-fuel rather than nuclear energy sparked a lively rise in stocks representing the "exotic" fuels.

The demand was so heavy for Olin-Mathieson, which makes a high-energy fuel containing boron, that trading in the stock was suspended a half hour so that sell orders could be matched with a flood of bids.

The market was lower at the start. It was depressed, brokers said, by a published prediction that the Defense Department plans no step-up in military spending next year and that President Eisenhower would not recommend any drastic change in the nation's missile program in his speech Thursday night.

The drab trading was also backgrounded by Federal Reserve Board Chairman Martin's statement emphasizing the continued fight against inflation rather than against business recession.

The rocket fuel shares advanced alone for a while. Not until afternoon were they joined by aircrafts, chemicals, nonferrous metals and other issues.

Ten of the 15 most active stocks were rocket fuel issues, aircraft or missile stocks.

Down at noon, The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed with a gain of 80 cents at $156.90 with the industrials up $1.20, the rails up $1.00 and the utilities up 10 cents.

Of 1,138 issues traded, gains totaled 586 and losses 329. There were 63 new lows for the year and 3 new highs.

Of the 15 most active stocks, nine rose, three fell and and three were unchanged.

On the American Stock Exchange prices were generally higher on turnover of 630,000 shares compared with 710,000 Wednesday.

GRAIN PRICES CLOSE MIXED

CHICAGO (AP) — Board of Trade futures ended mixed Thursday with most grains easing fractionally.

Price changes were small, reflecting a two sided trade and lack of important developments, either foreign or domestic. The main factor in a dull session was the expectation that the government will expand sales of surplus farm commodities to foreign countries by a billion dollars or more.

All deliveries of wheat and the December and March rye contracts were off fractions at the close, but soybeans ended with gains ranging up to nearly a cent a bushel.

Wheat closed ¼ to ¼ lower, corn ⅜ lower to ⅛ higher, oats ¼ lower to ⅜ higher, rye ½ lower to ¼ higher, soybeans ½ to ⅞ higher, and lard unchanged to 15 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Rallies in corn were checked by hedge selling and on the decline the December contract hit a new low for the season. Receipts of corn at terminal markets were heavier. Chicago receipts Thursday totaled 256 cars compared with 139 a week ago.

Firmness in soybeans was influenced by higher prices for vegetable oils.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK (AP)—Long range U.S. Government bonds gained slight fractions Thursday, extending their rally into the fourth consecutive session. The improvement, however, was the smallest of the period and volume was lower.

Corporates were slightly higher on balance in fairly active trading. Utilities, investment quality issues and industrials moved up. Rails were mixed with a tendency toward the downside and foreign dollar liens eased. Trading amounted to $5,682,000 par value on the big board compared to $5,800,000 Wednesday.

30-40% Of Business Tax Schedules Said Deficient

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

Tax investigators found that "30 to 40 per cent" of the business tax schedules filed in Saunders County "had something wrong with them", State Tax Commissioner Fred Herrington told the Legislative Council's Tax Investigating Committee Thursday.

In his report on the findings of a three-week study in the eastern Nebraska county, the tax commissioner emphasized that his field men "found nothing we didn't expect to find."

Describing Saunders County, scene of the committee's first investigation, as an "average" county, Herrington dealt in generalities at the public hearing before Sen. Terry Carpenter's Committee.

Many Types of Evasions

He said there were many types of tax evasions, violations and discrepancies, but declared there was "absolutely no evidence" that Saunders County tax officials "help taxpayers to revise their schedules" or "close their eyes" to taxpayers' revising their own schedules.

Without naming names, the tax commissioner cited specific instances of tax evasion such as one chattel mortgage listed at $27,000 which was assessed at $1,200.

Herrington said they found sealed and resealed grain was assessed 100 per cent, but that it was also evident that unsealed grain had very little assessment.

According to this, he continued, "People with a great many cattle had nothing to feed them on March 1."

Tractors Reported Older

They found instances in the farm equipment fields that a 1957 tractor was reported as a 1955 tractor for assessment purposes.

"Unfortunately," Herrington explained, "we heard often enough, and came to believe it, that assistant assessors put down a little less than some businessmen reported on their schedules."

The tax commisioner told the committee he believed all household goods, jewelry and such should be exempt from taxation.

He said it costs a county assessor about 75 per cent of his appropriation to assess this category of property, bring in only about two per cent of the return, and causes 50 per cent of the trouble an assessor has in complaints.

Suggests Flat Tax

Sen. Carpenter suggested that a flat amount of $5 or $10 might be levied against such goods, or possibly that a percentage tax based on real estate could be made rather than the present system.

The chairman then suggested that the committee should "do something about the quality of the people elected or appointed as assessors."

Carpenter said he believes "all assessors want to do the right thing, and if they don't it's because the people on the local level won't let them."

Other changes suggested by Carpenter included changing the assessment date from March 1 to January 1; a possible nominal tax to be levied at the banks on deposits as of a certain date, and that the Legislature should "spell out what actual value is."

Carpenter said the committee's findings will show the home owner "what a chump he's been." He said the home owner pays full taxes and "other types of taxpayers do not."

Percentage Of Public School Absences Up Slightly Thursday

The percentage of students absent from Lincoln Public schools Thursday was 15.9, slightly higher than Wednesday's 15.4 per cent, and Lincoln hospitals were feeling the strain of respiratory ailments with near-capacity loads.

Bryan Memorial and Lincoln General reported all but a few beds occupied and 240 of St. Elizabeth's 260 beds are being used. Officials indicated a higher percentage of respiratory ailments than is usual for this time of year.

Norwood Park Highest

Norwood Park continued to lead the public schools in absenteeism with 36.4 per cent out Thursday. Schools with more than 20 per cent absent were Belmont, Capitol, Dawes, Garfield, Saratoga, Havelock, Irving Child Center, Lakeview, Merle Beattie and Pershing.

There were 69 Lincoln Public School teachers absent Thursday.

The influenza epidemic that swept through Alliance's Indian population a week ago has greatly eased and most of the need for emergency aid is over, the Rev. Harry F. Martin, pastor of the Indian Mission Church, reported Thursday.

Food Need Met

He said the need for food has been met, but some families could use more fuel.

There were no reports to the State Health Department Thursday from county school superintendents. Earlier reports had listed 21 counties with 10 per cent or more of the population belived to have had the flu.

Mrs. Edith Sterns Funeral Saturday

Funeral services for Mrs. Edith E. Sterns, 77, of Raymond, will be 2 p.m. Saturday at the Raymond Methodist Church. The Rev. Harold Walker will officiate.
